Modern Historiography in the Making Kasper Risbjerg Eskildsen, 2022-02-24 At the end of the 19th century German historical scholarship had grown to great prominence Academics around the world imitated their German colleagues Intellectuals described historical scholarship as a foundation of the modern worldview To many the modern age was an age of history This book investigates how German historical scholarship acquired this status Modern Historiography in the Making begins with the early Enlightenment when scholars embraced the study of the past as a modernizing project undermining dogmatic systems of belief and promoting progressive ideals such a tolerance open mindedness and reform readiness Kasper Risbjerg Eskildsen looks at how this modernizing project remained an important motivation and justification for historical scholarship until the 20th century Eskildsen successfully argues that German historical scholarship was not as we have been told since the early 20th century a product of historicism but rather of Enlightenment ideals The book offers this radical revision of the history of scholarship by focusing on practices of research and education It examines how scholars worked and why they cared It shows how their efforts forever changed our relationship not only to the past but also to the world we live in A
