It presents the international results from the third cycle of the IEA's International Civic and Citizenship Education Study (ICCS 2022). Based on data from 24 countries or benchmarking participants from Europe, Latin America and Asia, ICCS 2022 studies contexts for and learning outcomes of civic and citizenship education in a wide range of national contexts at the beginning of the third decade of the 21st Century. It responds to both enduring and emerging challenges of educating young people in a world where contexts of democracy and civic participation continue to change. The study addresses issues related to young people's engagement through digital technologies, migration and diversity, perceptions of the political system, global citizenship and education for sustainable development Further it contains data that reflects civic related aspects of recent developments such as students perceptions of restrictions in response to national emergencies and their trust in scientists Over the past 50 years the IEA has conducted comparative research studies in a range of domains focusing on educational policies practices and outcomes in many countries around the world Prior to ICCS 2022 the IEA had conducted four international comparative studies of civic and citizenship education with a first survey implemented in 1971 a second in 1999 a third in 2009 and a fourth in 2016 ICCS 2022 data allows education systems to evaluate the strengths of educational policies from a comparative perspective and to measure progress in achieving critical social objectives of their educational policy agendas The Complete Book of

Rury,2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree
