La Fillette Et Le Petit Toutou:

Computational Dependency Theory Eva Hajicová, Leo Wanner, 2013-12-03 Dependencies directed labeled graph structures representing hierarchical relations between morphemes words and semantic units are the standard representation in many fields of computational linguistics The linguistic significance of these structures often remains vague however and those working in the field stress the need for the development of a common notational and formal basis Although dependency analysis has become quasi hegemonic in Natural Language Processing NLP the connection between computational linguistics and dependency linguistics remains sporadic But theoretical dependency linguistics and computational linguistics have much to share This book presents papers from the International Conference on Dependency Linguistics Depling 2011 held in Barcelona Spain in September 2011 Beginning with what may be the first formal definition of dependency structure the book continues with papers covering subjects such as the interface of the syntactic structures with semantics mapping semantic structures to text surface by means of statistical language generation formalization of dependency advances in dependency parsing and the link between statistical and rule based dependency parsing This comprehensive collection gives a coherent overview of recent advances in the interplay of linguistics and natural language engineering around dependency grammars ranging from definitional challenges of syntactic functions to formal grammars tree bank development and parsing issues
