Limpopo September 2014 Economics Paper1 Memo:

Institutional Arrangements for Conservation, Development and Tourism in Eastern and Southern Africa René van der Duim, Machiel Lamers, Jakomijn van Wijk, 2014-11-16 This book presents an overview of different institutional arrangements for tourism biodiversity conservation and rural poverty reduction in eastern and southern Africa. These approaches range from conservancies in Namibia, community based organizations in Botswana, conservation enterprises in Kenya, private game reserves in South Africa, to sport hunting in Uganda and transfrontier conservation areas. The book presents a comparative analysis of these arrangements and highlights that most arrangements emerged in the 1990s through either a decentralized or centralized change trajectory that was sponsored by donors. They aim to address some of the challenges of the fortress types of conservation by combining principles of community based natural resource management with a neoliberal approach to conservation evident in the use of tourism as the main mechanism for accruing benefits from wildlife. The book illustrates the empirical relevance of these novel arrangements by presenting their growth in numbers and discusses how these arrangements differ in their form. With respect to the conservation and development impacts of these arrangements, we show that they have secured large amounts of land for conservation but also generated governance challenges and disputes on tourism benefit sharing affecting the stability of these arrangements to generate socioeconomic and conservation benefits.
