The way I used these MCAS Review PowerPoint in class is as follows. Starting about six weeks before the Biology MCAS I would have "MCAS Review Fridays". I divided the class into teams. I put a set of tables at the front of the classroom, with paper and pencils set out. Each student would take a turn coming up to the table. I would click the questions on the screen. We would go over the questions. I would explain how the state asked the questions, and what the students should look for. The students would write down the correct answer. If they got it right, the team would get a point. The team with the most points at the end of class would get some type of prize. I found that conducting the review in this manner made each student participate. This also gave me a fun way to review the concepts that the students would be tested on.

These reviews were extremely beneficial to my students. My student's pass rate exceeded that of students from other teachers at the school I worked at.

little evidence of leading to educational improvement Rather than setting up incentives to divert instructional time to pointless test prep he argues we need to measure what matters and measure it in multiple ways not just via standardized tests Right now we re lying to ourselves about whether our children are learning And the longer we accept that lie the more damage we do It s time to end our blind reliance on high stakes tests With The Testing Charade Daniel Koretz insists that we face the facts and change course and he gives us a blueprint for doing better

Dilemmas of Educational Ethics Meira Levinson, Jacob Fay, 2019-01-02 Educators and policy makers confront challenging questions of ethics justice and equity on a regular basis Should teachers retain a struggling student if it means she will most certainly drop out Should an assignment plan favor middle class families if it means strengthening the school system for all These everyday dilemmas are both utterly ordinary and immensely challenging yet there are few opportunities and resources to help educators think through the ethical issues at stake Drawing on research and methods developed in the Justice in Schools project at the Harvard Graduate School of Education Dilemmas of Educational Ethics introduces a new interdisciplinary approach to achieving practical wisdom in education one that honors the complexities inherent in educational decision making and encourages open discussion of the values and principles we should collectively be trying to realize in educational policy and practice At the heart of the book are six richly described realistic accounts of ethical dilemmas that have arisen in education in recent years paired with responses written by noted philosophers empirical researchers policy makers and practitioners including Pedro Noguera Howard Gardner Mary Pattillo Andres A Alonso Jamie Ahlberg Toby N Romer and Michael J Petrilli The editors illustrate how readers can use and adapt these cases and commentaries in schools and other settings in order to reach a difficult decision deepen their own understanding or to build teams around shared values
