The Best Reading Lynds Eugene Jones, 1887 The Chautauquan, 1906 Epic Performances from the Middle Ages into the Twenty-First Century Fiona Macintosh, Justine McConnell, Stephen Harrison, Claire Kenward, 2018-10-26 Greek and Roman epic poetry has always provided creative artists in the modern world with a rich storehouse of themes Tim Supple and

Simon Reade's 1999 stage adaptation of Ted Hughes' Tales from Ovid for the RSC heralded a new lease of life for receptions of the genre and it now routinely provides raw material for the performance repertoire of both major cultural institutions and emergent experimental theatre companies. This volume represents the first systematic attempt to chart the afterlife of epic in modern performance traditions with chapters covering not only a significant chronological span but also ranging widely across both place and genre analysing lyric film dance and opera from Europe to Asia and the Americas. What emerges most clearly is how anxieties about the ability to write epic in the early modern world together with the ancient precedent of Greek tragedy's reworking of epic material explain its migration to the theatre. This move though was not without problems as epic encountered the barriers imposed by neo-classicists who sought to restrict serious theatre to a narrowly defined reality that precluded its broad sweeps across time and place. In many instances in recent years the fact that the Homeric epics were composed orally has rendered reinvention not only legitimate but also deeply appropriate opening up a range of forms and traditions within which epic themes and structures may be explored. Drawing on the expertise of specialists from the fields of classical studies English and comparative literature modern languages music dance and theatre and performance studies as well as from practitioners within the creative industries the volume is able to offer an unprecedented modern and dynamic study of epic content and form across myriad diverse performance arenas.

Unique Funeral Poems Dr Denise Lochrie, 2020-08-09 This little book of thirty three funeral poems is dedicated to those who have gone before us. It has been written with love in the hope that Celebrants Ministers and or family members will use the poems at funeral and memorial services when they unite to say farewell to their loved ones or in remembrance of them. The poems have been written from the heart and are sent into the world from the heart in the hope that they will offer a degree of comfort and hope to those who are experiencing one of the most difficult emotions ever grief. The poems are new and it is a privilege to share them with you.

Rosemary Atfield, 2007 This book offers an examination of Seamus Heaney's poetic volume Opened Ground placing it into dialogue with the major themes terms and ideas of Jungian psychology. This work should appeal to scholars interested in Jungian psychology Jungian readings of literature and Irish poetry. Opened Ground in which the poems are read in Jungian terms. Heaney had referred to himself as Jungian in religion and naturally used terms such as initiation individuation and the unconscious in interviews and essays. Therefore key Jungian terms are examined in relation to Heaney's poetic expression of these and explored through at least one poem from each of the collections represented in Opened Ground. This allows for an exploration of the creative tensions involved in the poet's presentation of personal poetic and political concerns while also allowing for further examination of the powerful physicality and musical qualities of the language in which he luxuriates
