Young People and the Diversity of (Non)Religious Identities in International Perspective Elisabeth Arweck, Heather Shipley, 2019-07-11 This volume brings together current research on young people, non-religion and diversity, documenting the forms young people's stances may take and the social or spatial contexts in which these may be formed. The social contexts studied include the family, school and faith communities. The spatial contexts include sub-urban and rural geographies and places of worship and pilgrimage. Youth and non-religion are an area of academic interest that has been gaining increasing attention, especially as it pertains to youthful expressions of non-religion and identities. As research on religion and young people spans and expands across academic disciplines and across geographic areas, comparative approaches and perspectives such as presented in this volume offer important spaces for reflecting about the experience of religiosity among young people and the ways they are learning about and developing non-religious identities. Building bridges geographically and methodologically, this volume provides an international perspective on religion and non-religion among young people, offering a diversity of religious and non-religious perspectives.

2012 GCSE English results Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education Committee,2013-06-11 The 2012 GCSE English results prompted significant controversy which ultimately resulted in an application for judicial review This report sets out the background to these events and identifies lessons to be learned The problems with GCSE English can be traced back to the 2007 09 development phase of the qualification in particular the turbulence which resulted from the shift away from a mostly linear to a modular system combined with a high proportion of controlled assessment and generous marking tolerances Exam board experts raised concerns at the time but these were not acted upon by the regulator the then interim Ofqual Further difficulties arose because of pressures from the school accountability system The problems experienced with GCSE English in 2012 highlighted serious weaknesses in the moderation of speaking and listening with consequences for grade awarding The current status of Ofqual as an independent regulator accountable to Parliament is the right one However the Coalition Government is bringing in wholesale changes to GCSEs and A levels to a tight timetable and at the same time Ofqual must have systems in place The Committee is also concerned that there is a rush towards separate exam systems for England Wales and Northern Ireland without careful reflection on what might be lost or consensus that this is the right thing to do
