

A Brief History of Coding

It's easy to think that programming a machine to automate a process, or calculate a value, is a modern concept that's only really happened in the last fifty years or so. However, that assumption is quite wrong, coding has actually been around for quite some time.

01000011 01101111 01100100 01101001 01101110 01100111

Essentially all forms of coding are made up of ones and zeros - on or off states. This works for both a modern computer and even the oldest known computational device.

~87 BC

It's difficult to pinpoint an exact start of when humans began to 'program' a device. However, it's widely accepted that the Antikythera Mechanism is possibly the first 'coded' artefact. It's dated to about 87 BC and is an ancient Greek analogue computer and orrery used to predict astronomical positions.

~850 AD

The Banū Mūsā brothers, three Persian scholars who worked in the House of Wisdom in Baghdad, published the Book of Ingenious Devices in around 850 AD. Among the inventions listed was a mechanical musical instrument: a hydro-powered organ that played interchangeable cylinders automatically.

1800

Joseph Marie Jacquard invents a programmable loom, which used cards with punched holes to create the textile design. However, it is thought that he based his design on a previous automated weaving process from 1725, by Basile Bouchon.

1842-1843

1930-1950

Ada Lovelace translated the memoirs of the Italian mathematician, Francis Meneciani, regarding Charles Babbage's Analytical Engine. She made copious notes within her writing, detailing a method of calculating Bernoulli Numbers using the engine. This is recognised as the first computer program. Not bad, considering there were no computers available at the time.
