

Informative Essay on National Identity

India is a democratic country after it gained its independence in 1947 from British who ruled India for nearly two centuries. India is popularly known as a Hindu nation which has various Gods and Goddesses for praise and worship and celebrates quite a number of religious festivals every year which carries different cultures and traditions for practicing rituals. India practices caste, creed and religion system and multi-regional language system where each State which are totally 29 in number, carry a unique and distinct language which is spoken only by local resident people of that State and there are only 5 percent people in India who speak English.

India is the second most popular country in the world which has a population of 1.1 billion people as per the records of 2007. India's economy is 12th largest in the world and its government is headed by Prime Minister and cabinet ministers who form economic policies of the government. There are democratic parties in India under various leaderships which campaign for votes every five years for winning the term elections.

Official view

For whichever party gets majority of votes in an election comes into the leadership to form National Government for a term of five years. India has a Constitutional Law and Judicial Law apart from Administrative Laws and Economic Laws and Policies.

India's national identity is its national flag in tri- colours viz., saffron indicates courage, sacrifice, the white indicates purity and truth, green indicates faith and fertility and in the midst of the flag there is a wheel in navy blue color which is termed as Dharma Chakra indicating the wheel of law which has 24 spikes in it. The national flag of India is a symbol of freedom for all people in India.

The flag is hoisted each year by the Prime Minister of India on 15th August as a mark of national Independence Day. India has many ancient forts and palaces that are built by dynasties of various kings and it is a proud place to carry one of the wonders of the world The Taj Mahal in the city of Agra which is a marble monument built by a king called Shahjahan. There is also Red fort in the city of Agra, Palace of a king in the city of Mysore, The Charminar in Hyderabad, and there many tourist places.

There are many industries, corporate houses and five star restaurants and resorts homes which are contributing to the GDP growth and development of nation which is around 7-8 percent per annum. India is an agricultural based country and in many parts of the country the yielded crop is lost due to either heavy rains, floods which is why there is a short supply of essential grains, pulses and vegetables and Government in order to meet the needs of consumers, imports wheat, sugar and oil from outside of India. There is still below poverty line in India even after 60 years of independence and country continues build its public infrastructure and teleco

Developing of Cultural Identity and Perception of Foreign Cultures Martin Strang, 2005-01-20 Essay from the year 2004 in the subject Communications Intercultural Communication grade High Distinction Macquarie University Centre for International Communication course Cross Cultural Communication language English abstract In this critical analysis the question of how people develop their cultural identity and perceive foreign cultures will be answered This is done through an analysis of the following points First different definitions or attempted definitions of culture are critically regarded Then the role of identity in cross cultural communication is examined with focus on the creation of cultural identities just as different communication styles related to specific identities In the third part of this paper the roles of stereotypes in cross cultural communications are discussed with reference to their functions in society Finally the topic of nonverbal communication especially attempts to describe nonverbal communication of a specific culture is examined In the conclusion the results of this paper are discussed and summarised The essay refers to the movie The Quiet American in footnotes to illustrate theoretical aspects with appropriate examples Culture is a complex and constantly changing phenomenon so definitions of culture are quite numerous and differing Brislin 2000 p 23 refers to the definition of Triandis Kurowski Tecktiel they are shared by people who communicate in the same language and live in the same time place Even though this definition is obviously general it cannot be seen as one accepted by all researchers in cross cultural communication Brislin 2000 p 30 tries to define culture by constructing a checklist consisting of twelve points in order to prove if a specific behaviour or ideal is part of one s culture or not This checklist can be seen as a practical tool for people dealing with cross cultural settings but it is hardly a theoretical definition Raymond Williams 1962 cited in Lull 1995 p 130 defines culture as a particular way of life which is shared by a community The definition of Williams emphasises the dynamic character of culture which changes when we as members of our own culture change the way we talk dress or work At the same time Williams definition makes no distinction between superior or inferior cultures furthermore everybody has their specific way of life
