Memorandum Of September 2013 Mathematics Question Paper:

Hitting Probabilities for Nonlinear Systems of Stochastic Waves Robert C. Dalang, Marta Sanz-Solé, 2015-08-21 The authors consider a d dimensional random field $u(x)$ that solves a non linear system of stochastic wave equations in spatial dimensions $k = 1, 2, 3$ driven by a spatially homogeneous Gaussian noise that is white in time They mainly consider the case where the spatial covariance is given by a Riesz kernel with exponent α Using Malliavin calculus they establish upper and lower bounds on the probabilities that the random field visits a deterministic subset of \mathbb{R}^d in terms respectively of Hausdorff measure and Newtonian capacity of this set The dimension that appears in the Hausdorff measure is close to optimal and shows that when $d \geq k + 1$ points are polar for u Conversely in low dimensions $d \leq k$ points are not polar There is however an interval in which the question of polarity of points remains open

Disorder and the Disinformation Society Jonathan Paul Marshall, James Goodman, Didar Zowghi, Francesca da Rimini, 2015-04-17 This book is the first general social analysis that seriously considers the daily experience of information disruption and software failure within contemporary Western society Through an investigation of informationalism defined as a contemporary form of capitalism it describes the social processes producing informational disorder While most social theory sees disorder as secondary pathological or uninteresting this book takes disordering processes as central to social life The book engages with theories of information society which privilege information order offering a strong counterpoint centred on disinformation Disorder and the Disinformation Society offers a practical agenda arguing that difficulties in producing software are both inherent to the process of developing software and in the social dynamics of informationalism It outlines the dynamics of software failure as they impinge on information workers and on daily life explores why computerized finance has become inherently self disruptive asks how digital enclosure and intellectual property create conflicts over cultural creativity and disrupt informational accuracy and scholarship and reveals how social media can extend but also distort the development of social movements

What's Our Problem? Tim Urban, 2023-02-21 From the creator of the wildly popular blog Wait But Why a fun and fascinating deep dive into what the hell is going on in our strange unprecedented modern times Between 2013 and 2016 Tim Urban became one of the world's most popular bloggers writing dozens of viral long form articles about everything from AI to colonizing Mars to procrastination Then he turned his attention to a new topic the society around him Why was everything such a mess Why was everyone acting like such a baby When did things get so tribal Why do humans do this stuff This massive topic sent Tim tumbling down his deepest rabbit hole yet through mountains of history evolutionary psychology political theory neuroscience and modern day political movements as he tried to figure out the answer to a simple question What's our problem Six years later he emerged from the hole holding this book What's Our Problem is a deep and expansive analysis of our modern times in the classic style of Wait But Why packed with original concepts sticky metaphors and 300 drawings The book provides an entirely new framework and language for thinking and talking about today's complex world. Instead of focusing on the usual left-center-right horizontal political axis which is all about what we think, the book introduces a vertical axis that explores how we think as individuals and as groups. Readers will find themselves on a delightful and fascinating journey that will ultimately change the way they see the world around them. Anyway, he wanted to say a lot more about all of this but there was a word limit on this book description so just go read the book.

The Schenley Experiment Jake Oresick, 2017-04-14 The Schenley Experiment is the story of Pittsburgh's first public high school, a social incubator in a largely segregated city that was highly even improbably successful throughout its 156-year existence. Established in 1855 as Central High School and reorganized in 1916, Schenley High School was a model of innovative public education and an ongoing experiment in diversity. Its graduates include Andy Warhol, actor Bill Nunn, and jazz virtuoso Earl Hines, and its prestigious academic program and pensions lured such teachers as future Pulitzer Prize winner Willa Cather. The subject of investment as well as destructive neglect, the school reflects the history of the city of Pittsburgh and provides a study in both the best and worst of urban public education practices there and across the Rust Belt. Integrated decades before Brown v Board of Education, Schenley succumbed to default segregation during the white flight of the 1970s; it rose again to prominence in the late 1980s when parents camped out in six-day-long lines to enroll their children in visionary superintendent Richard C. Wallace's reinvigorated school. Although the historic triangular building was a cornerstone of its North Oakland neighborhood and a showpiece for the city of Pittsburgh, officials closed the school in 2008, citing over 50 million in necessary renovations, a controversial event that captured national attention. Schenley alumnus Jake Oresick tells this story through interviews, historical documents, and hundreds of first-person accounts drawn from a community indelibly tied to the school. A memorable, important work of local and educational history, his book is a case study of desegregation, magnet education, and the changing nature and legacies of America's oldest public schools.

Drawing Futures Bob Sheil, Frédéric Migayrou, Luke Pearson, Laura Allen, 2016-11-11 Drawing Futures brings together international designers and artists for speculations in contemporary drawing for art and architecture. Despite numerous developments in technological manufacture and computational design that provide new grounds for designers, the act of drawing still plays a central role as a vehicle for speculation. There is a rich and long history of drawing tied to innovations in technology as well as to revolutions in our philosophical understanding of the world. In reflection of a society now underpinned by computational networks and interfaces allowing hitherto unprecedented views of the world, the changing status of the drawing and its representation as a political act demands a platform for reflection and innovation. Drawing Futures will present a compendium of projects, writings, and interviews that critically reassess the act of drawing and where its future may lie. Drawing Futures focuses on the discussion of how the field of drawing may expand synchronously alongside technological and computational developments. The book coincides with an international conference of the same name taking place at The Bartlett School of Architecture UCL in November 2016 Bringing together practitioners from many creative fields the book discusses how drawing is changing in relation to new technologies for the production and dissemination of ideas Congressional Record ,1881 International Who's who in Poetry ,1977 South African national bibliography ,1988 Includes publications received in terms of Copyright Act no 9 of 1916
