Balancing Change and Tradition in Global Education Reform Iris C. Rotberg, 2010-04-16 In Balancing Change and Tradition in Global Education Reform, Rotberg brings together examples of current education reforms in sixteen countries written by insiders. This book goes beyond myths and stereotypes and describes the difficult trade-offs countries make as they attempt to implement reforms in the context of societal and global change. In some countries, reforms are a response to major political or economic shifts; in others, they are motivated by large upsurges in immigration and increased student diversity. Irrespective of the reasons for education reform, all countries face decisions about resource allocation, equality of educational opportunity, access to higher education, student testing and tracking, teacher accountability, school choice and innovation. The essays in this volume reveal the policy choices about the school reforms made by countries throughout the world, the consequences associated with these choices, the role that societal values, historical antecedents and political structures play in facilitating or constraining reform. Balancing Change and Tradition in Global Education Reform is an invaluable resource for policymakers, faculty, students and anyone interested in how decisions made about the education
