A Contest without Winners Kate Phillippo,2019-03-19 Seeing the consequences of competitive school choice policy through students eyes While policymakers often justify school choice as a means to alleviate opportunity and achievement gaps an unanticipated effect is increased competition over access to coveted high performing schools In A Contest without Winners Kate Phillippo follows a diverse group of Chicago students through the processes of researching applying to and enrolling in public high school Throughout this journey students prove themselves powerful policy actors who carry out and redefine competitive choice Phillippo s work amplifies the voices of students rather than the parents educators public intellectuals and policymakers who so often inform school choice research and investigates how students interact with and emerge from competitive choice academically developmentally and civically Through students experiences she shows how competitive choice legitimates and exacerbates existing social inequalities collides with students developmental vulnerability to messages about their ability merit and potential and encourages young people s individualistic actions as they come to feel that they must earn their educational rights From urban infrastructure to income inequality to racial segregation Phillippo examines the factors that shape students policy enactment and interpretation as policymakers and educators ask students to compete for access to public resources With competitive choice even the winners the lucky few admitted to their dream schools don t outright win A Contest without Winners challenges meritocratic and market driven notions of opportunity creation for young people and raises critical questions about the goals we have for public schooling

Democracy at a Crossroads Gregory L. Samuels,Amy Samuels,2019-06-01 At a time of questionable civility in American politics democratic education appears to be at a crossroads As we consider how to best explore democracy and foster a more civically engaged populace in the current socio political context it is critical to examine what frames our educational systems policies and practices and shapes our civic identity While teachers struggle with decreased instructional time for social studies and the demands of standardized tests the social sciences are often pushed to the margins Reflecting on how to negotiate local state national and global tensions related to policy and practice educators work to do what is best to equip students to foster democratic citizenship and ideals Social sciences educators are uniquely positioned to embrace a journey that upholds democratic ideals of equality freedom and justice while simultaneously critiquing inequity and injustice in schools and our society The contributors to this volume situate a variety of discussions within the context of the crossroads and explore how to negotiate translate and reconceptualize our own beliefs and positionings in ways that positively influence and empower students teachers teacher educators and education policy makers Studies are presented related to civic education cross cultural interpretations emotional citizenship international economics and race consciousness as well as those that discuss how to challenge dominant narratives and negotiate educational policies and practices Education at a
