Kilkenny Cream Recipe:

Starting from Scratch Susan Gilbert-Collins,2010-08-03 Why is someone who just defended her doctoral dissertation still wasting her time at her childhood home two months after her mother's funeral making coq au vin and osso buco Olivia Tschetter the youngest of four high achieving South Dakotan siblings is not returning to normal or to graduate school quickly enough to suit her family She wants only to bury herself in her mother's kitchen finding solace in their shared passion for cooking Threatened with grief counseling Olivia accepts a temporary position at the local Meals on Wheels where she stumbles upon some unfinished business from her mother's past and a dark family secret Startling announcements from two siblings also challenge the family's status quo The last thing she needs is a deepening romantic interest in a close but platonic she thought friend But while Olivia's mother is gone her memory and spirit continue to engage Olivia who finds herself daring to speak when she would never have spoken before Told with humor and compassion Starting from Scratch explores the shifting of family dynamics in the wake of shattering loss and the healing power of cooking The goods one that incorporated a range of novel foods tobacco chocolate coffee and tea and new supplies of more established commodities including sugar spices and dried fruits Much has been written about the attraction of these goods which went from being novelties or expensive luxuries in the mid seventeenth century to central elements of the British diet a century or so later They have been linked to the rise of Britain as a commercial and imperial power whilst their consumption is seen as transforming many aspects of British society and culture from mealtimes to gender identity Despite this huge significance to ideas of consumer change we know remarkably little about the everyday processes through which groceries were sold bought and consumed In tracing the lines of supply that carried groceries from merchants to consumers Sugar and Spice reveals how changes in retailing and shopping were central to the broader transformation of consumption and consumer practices but also questions established ideas about the motivations underpinning consumer choices It demonstrates the dynamic nature of eighteenth century retailing the importance of advertisements in promoting sales and shaping consumer perceptions and the role of groceries in making shopping an everyday activity At the same time it shows how both retailers and their customers were influenced by the practicalities and pleasures of consumption They were active agents in consumer change shaping their own practices rather than caught up in a single socially inclusive cultural project such as politeness or respectability
