Young Adult and Canonical Literature Paula Greathouse, Victor Malo-Juvera, 2021-03-10 In the last decade alone the world has changed in seismic ways as marriage equality has been ruled on by the supreme court social justice issues such as metoo and BlackLivesMatter have arisen and issues of immigration and deportation have come to the forefront of politics across the globe Thus there is a need for an updated text that shares strategies for combining canonical and young adult literature that reflects the changes society has and continues to experience The purpose of our collection is to offer secondary 6 12 teachers engaging ideas and approaches for pairing young adult and canonical novels to provide unique examinations of topics that teaching either text in isolation could not afford Our collection does not center canonical texts and most chapters show how both texts complement each other rather than the young adult text being only an extension of the canonical Within each volume the chapters are organized chronologically according to the publication date of the canonical text The pairings offered in this collection allow for comparisons in some cases for extensions in others and for critique in all

High School Students' Competing Social Worlds Richard Beach, Amanda Haertling Thein, Daryl L. Parks, 2020-07-24 This book examines how working class high school students identity construction is continually mediated by discourses and cultural practices operating in their classroom school family sports community and workplace worlds Specifically it addresses how responding to cultural differences portrayed in multicultural literature can serve to challenge adolescents allegiances to status quo discourses and cultural models and how teachers not only can rouse students to clarify and change their value stances related to race class and gender but also provide support for and validation of students self interrogation Highlighting the influence of sociocultural forces the book contributes to understanding the role of institutions in shaping adolescents lives and identifies needs that must be addressed to improve those institutions Current theory and research on critical discourse analysis cultural models theory and identity construction is meshed with specific applications of that theory and research to case study profiles and analysis of classroom discussions The instructional strategies described enable pre service and in service teachers to develop their own literature curriculum and instructional methods

Voices in English Classrooms Lenora Cook, Helen C. Lodge, Helen Chanda Lodge, 1996 This book presents a collection of classroom practices that view the personal experiences of diverse student populations as valuable resources for instruction. It offers teachers various responses to the challenges posed by students' cultural, linguistic, and social group affiliations. The book contains essays arranged into three interwoven strands: Hearing Every Voice (the language strand encourages peer appreciation of dialect and language diversity), Preserving Voices (the composition strand emphasizes the bond between writer and audience that leads to understanding self and others), and Affirming Voices (the literature strand expands upon and enriches the traditional canon by dealing with literary selections that reflect the experiences of diverse groups within United States society). Essays and their authors include:

1. Celebrating Diversity through the Language Autobiography G. Douglas Meyers
2. Classroom Diversity as Strength: A Language Centered Unit Kyoko Sato and others
3. How You Not Be Knowin' Dat: Using Language Study to Enfranchise Diversity Barbara Osburg
