Modified Mass-spring System for Physically Based Deformation Modeling Oussama Jarrousse,2014-09 Mass spring systems are considered the simplest and most intuitive of all deformable models They are computationally efficient and can handle large deformations with ease But they suffer several intrinsic limitations In this book a modified mass spring system for physically based deformation modeling that addresses the limitations and solves them elegantly is presented Several implementations in modeling breast mechanics heart mechanics and for elastic images registration are presented

Performance Analysis and Improvement in MIMO Communication Systems Xuhui Ding,Dekang Liu,Ziyi Yang,Gaoyang Li,Neng Ye,Kai Yang,2025-07-04 This book focuses on the modeling and analysis of large scale array communication systems to solve the computational complexity problems caused by high dimensional arrays This is achieved by providing an in depth study on several major topics such as channel estimation delay estimation angle estimation and joint angle delay estimation Both principles and engineering practice have been addressed with more weight placed on engineering practice The energy efficiency optimization problem of multi antenna communication system is studied according to the actual situation of imperfect channel information and non ideal hardware and the corresponding high energy efficiency signal processing algorithm is proposed The book benefits researchers engineers and graduate students in the fields of wireless communications and signal processing etc

Neutron Stars and NuSTAR Varun B. Bhallerao, 2012-11 This book centers around the study of neutron stars especially those in massive binary systems To this end it has two distinct components the observational study of neutron stars in massive binaries with a goal of measuring neutron star masses and participation in NuSTAR the first imaging hard X ray mission one that is extremely well suited to the study of massive binaries and compact objects in our Galaxy The Nuclear Spectroscopic Telescope Array NuSTAR is a NASA Small Explorer mission that will carry the first focusing high energy X ray telescope to orbit NuSTAR has an order of magnitude better angular resolution and has two orders of magnitude higher sensitivity than any currently orbiting hard X ray telescope I worked to develop calibrate and test CdZnTe detectors for NuSTAR I describe the CdZnTe detectors in comprehensive detail here from readout procedures to data analysis Detailed calibration of detectors is necessary for analyzing astrophysical source data obtained by the NuSTAR I discuss the design and implementation of an automated setup for calibrating flight detectors followed by calibration procedures and results Neutron stars are an excellent probe of fundamental physics The maximum mass of a neutron star can put stringent constraints on the equation of state of matter at extreme pressures and densities From an astrophysical perspective there are several open questions in our understanding of neutron stars What are the birth masses of neutron stars How do they change in binary evolution Are there multiple mechanisms for the formation of neutron stars Measuring masses of neutron stars helps answer these questions Neutron stars in high mass X ray binaries have masses close to their birth mass providing an opportunity to disentangle the role of nature and nurture in the observed mass distributions In 2006 masses had been measured for only six such objects but this small sample showed the greatest diversity in masses among all classes of neutron star binaries Intrigued by this diversity which points to diverse birth masses we undertook a systematic survey to measure the masses of neutron stars in nine high mass X ray binaries In this book I present results from this ongoing project
