The ISO 13485 Standard is widely used in the medical device manufacturing industry as a means of establishing compliance with Canadian Medical Device Regulation, European Medical Device Directive and other regulations. Since the majority of medical device manufacturers comply with both 21 CFR 820 QSR and ISO 13485 standards, it is practical to consider establishing an integrated 21 CFR 820 and ISO 13485 Quality Management System (QMS).

Documentation Structure

To establish an integrated QSR and ISO 13485 QMS, an organization may use approaches outlined in the ISO 10013 Standard, Guidelines for Developing Quality Manuals. Among other suggestions, this standard gives an example of a documentation structure that can be used for QSR and ISO 13485 quality management systems. While the standard suggests using a three-level documentation structure, most organizations implement four-level structures to include quality records, as required by both QSR Subpart M - Records and ISO 13485, element 4.2.4. A typical four-level documentation structure includes: Quality Manual, Procedures, Instructions, and Records.

Actually, the documentation structure for an organization should most likely start from the quality policy, as the policy, among other commitments, defines the regulations and standards that a company intends to comply with. If you choose to use this approach, your QMS will have five levels, as shown below:

1. Quality Policy - level 1
2. Quality Manual - level 2
3. Procedures - level 3
4. Instructions - level 4, and
5. Records - level 5

Quality Policy

QSR, section 820.20 (a) and ISO 13485, element 5.3 require the establishment of a quality policy. To satisfy these requirements an organization may develop a quality policy that meets requirements of both QSR and ISO 13485 standards. While QSR requires a quality policy to include a commitment to quality and be "...understood, implemented, and maintained at all levels of the organization", ISO 13485 requirements are somewhat broader. Therefore, an organization can adhere to the requirements of ISO 13485 which requires that a quality policy include:

- A commitment to comply with requirements,

Hall, 1995-10-16 For the past four years a committee of professional interests representing industry academia consumers and governments has been meeting to develop a definitive standard to take Quality Systems into the 21st century In July 1994 ISO 9000 was announced to the world This is the ISO 9000 Family 9001 2 3 as it tends to be called There is now an even greater demand from companies to gain formal accreditation particularly since the standard has worldwide recognition The Quality Systems Manual is a detailed and definitive guide to the installation and maintenance of an ISO 9001 Quality System within a company It is an intensely practical guide laid out to follow the exact format of the 20 clauses of ISO 9001 It explains in plain English exactly how they should be applied to your business The official ISO 9001 paper provides only a slim seven page statement of the basic requirements that have to be met by a Quality System it supplies none of the required methodology It tells you what but not how The missing link between the rules and successful registration comes from knowing how to take the 20 clauses and apply them to everyday business situations This is where The Quality Systems Manual is so valuable It is relevant for every industry whether manufacturing or service and will be used by Quality Managers and those assigned to implement and maintain this new standard Because it is designed as a practical guide to enable companies to register there is a special section called Preparing for Assessment which covers all the nuances needed to optimise the chance of success when being formally assessed TickIT ISO 9000 3 the equivalent standard for software development is also examined in detail and shows precisely how it integrates with ISO 9001 It has been calculated that a third of the cost a company incurs in achieving registration is spent on fees for consultants to help explain the rules and prepare for assessment For the cover price of The
