

Emotional Maturity Scale

- The Emotional Maturity Scale was developed by Singh and Bhargava (1991). This self-report tool consists of 48 items, which measure five dimensions: The responses are made on a 5-point scale, ranging from Never (1) to Always (5). The higher the score, the less emotionally mature the respondent is; the lower the total, the greater emotional maturity.
- Emotional Maturity is a state of balanced feelings and self-control. Person is said to be emotionally mature who has in his possession almost all kinds of emotions (positive as well as negative) and is able to express them justly, skillfully and timely in different situations of life. As per the author of emotional maturity scale, Singh and Bhargava (1999), 'Emotionally mature is not one who necessarily has resolved all conditions that aroused anxiety and hostility but it is continually involved in a struggle to gain healthy integration of feeling, thinking and action'.
- Emotional maturity plays a major role in the life of an individual. It prepares an individual for better adjustment. It can be understood in terms of ability of self-control, which in turn, is a result of thinking and learning. The capacities for thinking and learning are increased because of the varied experiences gathered by the professional students in the college campus, which results from his keen perceptions and his increased capacity to distinguish between persons, objects and situations. It leads to both realism and inhibition of emotional reactions.
- Emotional maturity thus enables individuals to see himself, his family and various other forces in his environment in their true perspective. Emotional maturity essentially involves emotional control. It involves the kind of living that most richly and fully expresses what a person has in him at any level of his
