Build Environment

Abstract

- environment build attended properties

- Abstract Background: The purpose of this study was to determine the prevalence of self-reported mental health problems among a sample of young adults in the United States. Methods: Data were obtained from the 2007 National Survey of Adolescent Health, a nationally representative survey of adolescents and young adults. Results: The prevalence of self-reported mental health problems was 12.5% among young adults. The prevalence was higher among females than males, and among those with lower income than those with higher income. Conclusions: The prevalence of self-reported mental health problems among young adults is relatively low, but it is higher among females and those with lower income. Keywords: Prevalence, self-reported, mental health problems, young adults.
