Exploring STEM Environments that Broaden Participation Tyrslai Williams, Renã A. S. Robinson, Zakiya S. Wilson-Kennedy, 2025-09-16

Creating spaces conducive for all students pursuing degrees in STEM is a constant conversation in higher education Studies establish the need for broad participation in STEM and the barriers in place that prevent matriculation through critical junctures Through these studies several suggestions and recommendations suggest supporting students through advising mentoring and research experience Very little is discussed about the tools and strategies needed to enhance students own development of self efficacy and self identity through mentorship in formal environments like the lab classroom and departments but also in informal STEM environments like bridge programs organizational involvement and mentoring groups While the environments seem very different the mission of dynamic approaches to student progression is apparent Furthermore understanding how the support evolves at each critical juncture is critical to the way in which the future of STEM will advance

Taking Back Philosophy Bryan W. Van Norden, 2017-12-05

Are American colleges and universities failing their students by refusing to teach the philosophical traditions of China India Africa and other non Western cultures This biting and provocative critique of American higher education says yes Even though we live in an increasingly multicultural world most philosophy departments

stubbornly insist that only Western philosophy is real philosophy and denigrate everything outside the European canon In Taking Back Philosophy Bryan W Van Norden lambastes academic philosophy for its Eurocentrism insularity and complicity with nationalism and issues a ringing call to make our educational institutions live up to their cosmopolitan ideals In a cheeky agenda setting and controversial style Van Norden an expert in Chinese philosophy proposes an inclusive multicultural approach to philosophical inquiry He showcases several accessible examples of how Western and Asian thinkers can be brought into productive dialogue demonstrating that philosophy only becomes deeper as it becomes increasingly diverse and pluralistic Taking Back Philosophy is at once a manifesto for multicultural education an accessible introduction to Confucian and Buddhist philosophy a critique of the ethnocentrism and anti intellectualism characteristic of much contemporary American politics a defense of the value of philosophy and a liberal arts education and a call to return to the search for the good life that defined philosophy for Confucius Socrates and the Buddha Building on a popular New York Times opinion piece that suggested any philosophy department that fails to teach non Western philosophy should be renamed a Department of European and American Philosophy this book will challenge any student or scholar of philosophy to reconsider what constitutes the love of wisdom
