Deep Energy Retrofit—A Guide for Decision Makers Alexander Zhivov, Rüdiger Lohse, 2021-02-10 Many governments worldwide are setting more stringent targets for reductions in energy use in government public buildings. Buildings constructed more than 10 years ago account for a major share of energy used by the building stock. However, the funding and know-how applied knowledge available for owner-directed energy retrofit projects has not kept pace with new requirements. With typical retrofit projects, reduction of energy use varies between 10 and 20% while actual executed renovation projects show that energy use reduction can exceed 50% and can cost-effectively achieve the Passive House standard or even approach net zero energy status. EBC Annex 61 2017a Hermelink and Müller 2010 NBI 2014 RICS 2013 Shonder and Nasseri 2015 Miller and Higgins 2015 Emmerich et al 2011 Building energy efficiency EE ranks first in approaches with resource efficiency potential with a total resource benefit of approximately 700 billion until 2030. EE is by far the cheapest way to cut CO₂ emissions. McKinsey 2011 IPCC 2007. However, according to an IEA study IEA 2014a more than 80% of savings potential in building sector remains untapped. Thus the share of deployed EE in the building sector is lower than in the Industry Transport and Energy generation sectors. Estimates for the deep renovation potentials show 600-900bn investment potential 1000-1300bn savings potential 70% energy saving potential and 90% CO₂ reduction potential.
