John Marr and Other Poems Herman Melville, 2019-11-25 In John Marr and Other Poems Herman Melville ventures beyond the profound narratives of his novels to explore the nuanced landscapes of poetry This collection showcases Melville's signature themes of isolation existential inquiry and the complexities of human nature all while employing a vivid and sometimes archaic lyrical style Rich with maritime imagery and philosophical reflections these poems reveal the depth of Melville's introspection during a pivotal moment in his life highlighting his evolution as a literary figure in the context of 19th century American literature where transcendentalism and realism intersect Herman Melville best known for his monumental work Moby Dick found himself in a period of personal and professional reevaluation when he crafted this collection The loss of readership and the changing literary landscape fueled Melville's desire to experiment with poetic forms and to voice his contemplations on life and death identity and the passage of time His experiences as a sailor and his deep philosophical concerns are woven throughout these poems marking a significant transformation in his literary pursuits and providing insight into his evolving identity as an author John Marr and Other Poems is a compelling read for those who wish to delve into the lesser known yet profoundly introspective side of Melville's oeuvre The collection invites readers to engage with Melville's contemplative journey offering a rich tapestry of insights that resonate with the universal quest for meaning and connection This lyrical exploration not only enhances our understanding of Melville as a poet but also serves to enrich the broader discourse of American poetry

John Marr and Other Sailors Herman Melville, 2020-03-05 John Marr and Other Sailors is a volume of poetry published by Herman Melville in 1888 Melville published twenty five copies at his own expense indicating that they were intended for family and friends Henry Chapin wrote in an introduction to a reprint that Melville's loveable freshness of personality is everywhere in evidence in the voice of a true poet The Inscription Epistolary is to William Clark Russell a British sea story author who called Melville the greatest genius the United States has produced and first among the poets of the deep Like Timoleon his other volume of late verse scholars have assumed that it was a private work of art symptomatic of his withdrawal from the literary world Melville was putting this collection together as he was also drafting Billy Budd which like several poems in this collection had prose headnotes followed by full poems

John Marr and Other Poems (Classic Reprint) Herman Melville, 2017-12-25 Excerpt from John Marr and Other Poems Melville's verse printed for the most part privately in small editions from middle life onward after his great prose work had been written taken as a whole is of an amateurish and uneven quality In it however that loveable freshness of personality which his philosophical dejection never quenched is everywhere in evidence It is clear that he did not set himself to master the poet's art yet through the mask of conventional verse which often falls into doggerel the voice of a true poet is heard In selecting the pieces for this volume I have put in the vigorous sea verses of John Marr in their entirety and added those others from his Battle Pieces Timoleon etc that best indicate the quality of their author's personality The prose Supplement to Battle Pieces has been included because it does so much to explain the feeling of his war verse and further because it is such a remarkably wise and clear commentary upon those confused and troublous days of post war reconstruction H C About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction
