5-4. The minimal-spanning model is one that will find the best way to connect all the nodes in a network together while minimizing the total distance between nodes or the total cost of connecting the nodes together. A number of decision modeling problems can be solved using this model: an example was given connecting water and power to a real estate development project. This model can also be used to determine the best way to deliver cable TV to households, connect computers on a computer network, install an oil pipeline, develop a natural gas network, and more.

5-5. The maximal-flow model can be used to determine the maximum number of cars that can flow through a road system, the number of gallons of chemicals that can flow through a chemical processing plant, the
