

BULLARD

CUT MASTER

VERTICAL TURRET LATHE

The Bullard Company for over seventy years has progressively created, and placed in practically all industries of the world, machine tools which have led the way to more economical and accurate production. Changes in the products of industry, new methods, new materials, and continued improvements in cutting tools call for design advances in machine tools. Consistent with these advances and in continuance of its general policy, The Bullard Company has developed the Cut Master Vertical Turret Lathe. This is a machine based on the fundamental principles of vertical turret lathe design and incorporating the developments resulting from our acquired knowledge and experience.

This Service Manual has been prepared to enable operators and maintenance men to become familiar with the Cut Master and thereby take full advantage of all the features built into the machine.
