divided into four parts the first briefly summarizing the history of the initiative Part Two the largest section describes how various instructors departments and colleges in a range of disciplines have interpreted inquiry guided learning It provides examples from disciplines as varied as ecology engineering foreign language learning history music microbiology physics and psychology It also outlines the potential for even broader dissemination of inquiry guided learning in the undergraduate curriculum as a whole Part Three describes two inquiry guided learning programs for first year students and the interesting ways in which NCSU s university wide writing and speaking program and growing service learning program support inquiry guided learning Part Four documents how the institution has supported instructors and how they have supported themselves as well as the methods used to assess the impact of inquiry guided learning on students faculty and the institution as a whole The book has been written with three audiences in mind instructors who want to use inquiry guided learning in their classrooms faculty developers considering supporting comparable efforts on their campuses and administrators interested in managing similar undergraduate reform efforts It will also appeal to instructors of courses in the administration of higher education who are looking for relevant case studies of reform While this is a model successfully implemented at a research university it is one that is relevant for all institutions of higher education
