

Strategy 1: The Number Line

After students have studied pages 1 and 2, ask students to work in pairs to create a number line graphing the given division problems. Once students have an understanding of how to label points, assign students to determine and graph points that represent the divisions given.

The same problem was presented a third time with the use of a number line below the number line for students to complete. Use of repetition is also a good differentiation strategy for students who need to strategize.

Each student has a number line graph to use. Students will represent equations that have given numbers relative to 0 on the number line. Students will represent the given information for the word problem using the number line. Use of a number line is a good differentiation strategy for students who need to strategize.

- a. The division problem given below in Figure 6.1 is completed correctly.
