

Safe Manual Handling

INTRODUCTION

LEGISLATION

More than a 1/3 of workers reported in the Health and Safety Executive's first National Survey on Manual Handling and Musculoskeletal Disorders are likely to be injured and/or compensated. The Department of Health's Health Research Group report in 2004 states that musculoskeletal disorders are a leading cause of sickness absence, costing the economy £1.6 billion a year. A further factor is the number of accidents experienced from these conditions.

TYPES OF INJURY

The back is a series of vertebrae with a disc separating each vertebra. These discs separate and support the spine. There is a potential vulnerability to pain if you place a potential load on the spine.

The types of injury that occur are:

1. Strains, both immediate and those that occur over time due to repeated movements.
2. Sprains, both neck/shoulder, back/neck and also combined other types.

Anywhere in the musculoskeletal system can be injured.

EMPLOYERS & EMPLOYEES

EMPLOYERS DUTIES

Employers should:

1. Assess the risk of injury with all manual handling operations involving lifting or lowering.
2. Plan to avoid or reduce the risk.
3. Assess the need to avoid handling or to use mechanical aids.
4. Assess the need to use mechanical aids.
5. Provide information and training.
6. To ensure any manual handling is done safely and in a way that is safe for the employee.

PREVENTING BACK PAIN

As well as the procedures above there are actions that you can take to help prevent back pain.

1. Keep your weight under control for your height.
2. Try to maintain a good posture during all activities e.g. working, sitting, and driving.
3. Stretch and warm up before work.
4. Avoid static lifting and lowering programmes and avoid lifting or lowering heavy and awkward loads.
5. If you get back pain, stop any activity immediately and seek advice. Seek advice from your GP or a physiotherapist.
6. If you get back pain, stop any activity immediately and seek advice. Seek advice from your GP or a physiotherapist.

RISK ASSESSMENT

The purpose of a risk assessment is to:

1. Identify the hazards present by looking at the Task, Individual, Load and the Environment. Ask to identify who may be harmed by the activity, to look at the existing controls and to identify if further improvements are necessary.

The person carrying out the assessment should be:

1. Qualified with the Competence of Health and Safety at Work (Legislation 1974, The Manual Handling Operations Regulations 1992) and/or other relevant qualifications or experience.
2. Qualified with the necessary training and skills.
3. Competent to carry out the task.

The assessment should be written down and the recommendations acted upon where necessary.
