We're seeing a growing trend of intermediaries offering boutique and mid-tier firms. The pros are clear: better access to Partners, meaningful exposure to a variety of not-for-profit day-to-day work, and a longer-term career path. However, in a not-for-profit environment and visibility, this talent is now increasingly scarce.

Note: Accountants are more often 9/5 where they're more likely to be a partner over work location.

We advise recruitment firms to look for talent in strategic and revenue growth and not just in the traditional and local markets. It's important to have a good understanding of the market and to be able to identify the right talent for the right role.
