Jacob Jordaens: 110 Masterpieces Maria Tsaneva, 2014-12-29 Jacob Jordaens was one of three Flemish Baroque painters along with Peter Paul Rubens and Anthony van Dyck to bring prestige to the Antwerp school of painting Like Rubens Jordaens painted altarpieces mythological and allegorical scenes and after 1640 the year Rubens died he was the most important painter in Antwerp for large scale commissions and the status of his patrons increased in general However he is best known today for his numerous large genre scenes based on proverbs in the manner of his contemporary Jan Brueghel the Elder Jordaens never made the traditional trip to Italy to study classical and Renaissance art Despite this he made many efforts to study prints or works of Italian masters available in northern Europe His work however betrays local traditions especially the genre traditions of Pieter Bruegel the Elder in honestly depicting Flemish life with authenticity and showing common people in the act of celebratory expressions of life Masterpieces of Art ,1939 Vorhang auf: Die Heilige

Mixed from egg whites and vegetable tints, water and soot, oils and rare minerals and applied to bone, wood, metal and canvas, the plastic and expressive properties of paint have stirred artists and their admirers throughout history. The holdings of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston have grown into a formidable appraisal of one of humankind's oldest and most diverse forms of artistic expression from its first acquisition, Washington Allston's Elijah in the Desert 1818 to recently acquired works by Edgar Degas, Georgia O'Keeffe and Takashi Murakami and now constitutes one of America's largest permanent collections. The first version of Masterpieces has long been a favorite among museumgoers and art lovers. This new edition expands on the scope of the old, adding new acquisitions and featuring 150 master works by artists from Asia, Europe and the Americas, from delicate Song dynasty handscrolls to jewel-like images of medieval piety, scenes of mythic drama, austere still lifes, sensitive portraits, grand landscapes and jarring Modern visions. Featuring artists such as Rembrandt, El Greco, Copley, Monet, Sargent and Picasso, anonymous masters of medieval Europe and Asia and living artists of uncompromising vision such as Gerhard Richter and David Hockney, this book is a celebration of the possibilities of paint.

Vermeer's Camera Philip Steadman, 2002

Over 100 years of speculation and controversy surround claims that the great seventeenth-century Dutch artist Johannes Vermeer used the camera obscura to create some of the most famous images in Western art. This intellectual detective story starts by exploring Vermeer's possible knowledge of seventeenth-century optical science and outlines the history of this early version of the photographic camera which projected an accurate image for artists to trace. However, it is Steadman's meticulous reconstruction of the artist's studio, complete with a camera obscura which provides exciting new evidence to support the view that Vermeer did indeed use the camera. These findings do not challenge Vermeer's genius but show how like many artists he experimented with new technology to develop his style and choice of subject matter. The combination of detailed research and a wide range of contemporary illustrations offers a fascinating glimpse into a time of great scientific and cultural innovation and achievement in Europe.
