

Brutus: The Heroic Character in Shakespeare's Julius Caesar

4 pages | 925 words

In William Shakespeare's renowned play, The Tragedy of Julius Caesar, the character of Brutus emerges as the most heroic figure. Set against the backdrop of ancient Rome, where Caesar's popularity is soaring and the citizens clamor for him to be crowned king, Brutus stands as a paragon of honor, selflessness, and bravery. He believes that Caesar's ascent to power would imperil the Roman Republic, and thus, he takes the drastic step of conspiring to assassinate Caesar in the name of the greater good. This essay will delve into Brutus's noble qualities and actions, highlighting his unwavering commitment to Rome, his selflessness, and his remarkable bravery.

Brutus's Honor and Nobility

Throughout the entirety of the play, Brutus's actions and choices are characterized by honor and nobility. In a crucial moment, during the conspirators' meeting at his house, the day before Caesar's assassination, Brutus eloquently states, "Let's be sacrificers but not butchers" (II.i.166). His choice of words reflects his desire to carry out their plan with dignity and purpose, rather than resorting to brutality. Brutus, despite being the newest member of the conspirators, assumes a leadership role in this meeting, demonstrating his rationality and poise. Even after Caesar's death, when Antony requests permission to deliver a eulogy at Caesar's funeral, Brutus accedes, declaring, "You shall speak in the same pulpit whereto I am going after my speech is ended" (III.i.249-251). This act of granting Antony the opportunity to speak, despite the risks involved, underscores Brutus's compassion and fairness. His genuine belief in the righteousness of their cause blinds him to the potential harm Antony might inflict, revealing his honorable nature. Antony himself acknowledges Brutus's honor when he instructs Messala to take Brutus's lifeless body to his tent, saying, "He, only in general honest thought and common good to all, made one of them. His life was gentle" (V.v.71-73). Even in death, Brutus commands the respect and admiration of others, a testament to the profound impact of his honorable deeds and character.

Brutus's Selflessness

Brutus's selflessness is a defining trait that endears him to the people of Rome. He places the welfare of Rome and its citizens above all else, even his personal relationships. In his earnest attempt to win the favor of the Roman populace and demonstrate his selflessness, Brutus boldly proclaims, "[he] had rather be a villager than to repute himself a son of Rome" (I.ii. 172-173). This declaration conveys his profound humility and willingness to sacrifice his own status for the greater good. When addressing the crowd after Caesar's assassination, Brutus candidly confesses, "Not that I loved Caesar less, but I loved Rome more" (III.ii.21-22). This admission underscores his unwavering commitment to the people and his belief that Caesar's unchecked ambition posed a genuine threat to the Republic. Brutus's selflessness is evident in his willingness to make the difficult decision to eliminate Caesar for the sake of Rome's future. Perhaps the most poignant illustration of Brutus's selflessness is when he tells the plebeians, "I have the same dagger for myself, when it shall please my country to need my death" (III.ii.47-48). In this moment, he not only displays courage but...
