June 2013 As Sociology Question Paper 1

Ensheng Dong

June 2013 As Sociology Question Paper 1:

Genetic Discrimination Gerard Quinn, Aisling de Paor, Peter Blanck, 2014-11-20 As genetic technologies advance genetic testing may well offer the prospect of detecting the onset of future disabilities Some research also forwards that certain behavioural profiles may have a strong genetic basis such as the determination to succeed or the propensity for risk taking As this technology becomes more prevalent there is a danger that genetic information may be misused by third parties and that particular genetic profiles may be discriminated against by employers by providers of social goods and services such as insurance companies and even by educational facilities This book explores the different forms and potential uses of genetic testing Drawing together leading experts in disability law bioethics health law and a range of related fields it highlights the ethical and legal challenges arising as a result of emerging and rapidly advancing genetic science On examining transatlantic perspectives on the matter chapters in the book ask whether the US Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act GINA is proving to be an effective tool in addressing the issue of genetic discrimination and alleviating fears of discrimination The book also reviews what insights may be gained from GINA within employment and health insurance contexts and asks how the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities CRPD may impact similar debates within the European Union The book focuses particularly on the legislative and policy framework in the European Union with an emphasis on the gaps in protection and the scope for specific legislative action in this area This book will be of great interest to scholars and students of discrimination law bioethics and disability law and will be of considerable use to legal practitioners medical practitioners and policy makers in this area

The War Lawyers Craig Jones, 2020-11-26 Over the last 20 years the world's most advanced militaries have invited a small number of military legal professionals into the heart of their targeting operations spaces which had previously been exclusively for generals and commanders These professionals trained and hired to give legal advice on an array of military operations have become known as war lawyers The War Lawyers examines the laws of war as applied by military lawyers to aerial targeting operations carried out by the US military in Iraq and Afghanistan and the Israel military in Gaza Drawing on interviews with military lawyers and others this book explains why some lawyers became integrated in the chain of command whereby military targets are identified and attacked whether by manned aircraft drones and or ground forces and with what results This book shows just how important law and military lawyers have become in the conduct of contemporary warfare and how it is understood Jones argues that circulations of law and policy between the US and Israel have bolstered targeting practices considered legally questionable contending that the involvement of war lawyers in targeting operations enables legitimises and sometimes even extends military violence

Diversity in Mathematics Education Alan Bishop, Hazel Tan, Tasos N Barkatsas, 2014-09-20 This book presents a research focus on diversity and inclusivity in mathematics education The challenge of diversity largely in terms of student profiles or contextual features is endemic in mathematics education and is often argued to require differentiation as a response Typically different curricula text materials task structures or pedagogies are favoured responses but huge differences in achievement still result If we in mathematics education seek to challenge that status quo more research must be focussed not just on diversity but also on the inclusivity of practices in mathematics education The book is written by a group of experienced collaborating researchers who share this focus It is written for researchers research students teachers and in service professionals who recognise both the challenges but also the opportunities of creating and evaluating new inclusive approaches to curriculum and pedagogy ones that take for granted the positive values of diversity Several chapters report new research in this direction The authors are part of or have visited with the mathematics education staff of the Faculty of Education at Monash University in Melbourne Australia The chapters all focus on the ideas of development in both research and practice recognising that the current need is for new inclusive approaches The studies presented are set in different contexts including Australia China the United States and Singapore

Law, Society and Corruption Rustamjon Urinboyev, Måns Svensson, 2024-07-04 This book presents new socio legal perspectives and insights on the social life of corruption and anticorruption in authoritarian regimes This book takes up the case of Uzbekistan an authoritarian regime in Central Asia and one of the most corrupt countries in the world according to Transparency International's Corruption Perceptions Index and examines the corruption that developed in a tightly closed authoritarian regime permeated by a large scale shadow economy a weak rule of law and a collectivist legal culture Building on socio legal frameworks of legal compliance living law and legal pluralism the central argument of the book is that the roles meanings and logics of corruption are fluid and depend on a myriad of structural variables and contextual and situational factors This book will be of value to researchers academics and students in the fields of sociology of law legal anthropology and Central Asian studies especially those with an interest in the intersection of law society and corruption in authoritarian regime contexts The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 International license

Gender, Globalization, and Violence Sandra Ponzanesi, 2014-07-11 This wide ranging collection of essays elaborates on some of the most pressing issues in contemporary postcolonial society in their transition from conflict and contestation to dialogue and resolution It explores from new angles questions of violent conflict forced migration trafficking and deportation human rights citizenship transitional justice and cosmopolitanism The volume focuses more specifically on the gendering of violence from a postcolonial perspective as it analyses unique cases that disrupt traditional visions of violence by including the history of empire and colony and its legacies that continue to influence present day configurations of gender race nationality class and sexuality Part One maps out the gendered and racialized contours of conflict zones from war zones prisons and refugee camps to peacekeeping missions and humanitarian aid reframing the field and establishing connections between colonial legacies and postcolonial dynamics Part Two explores how these conflict zones are played out not just outside but also within Europe demonstrating that multicultural Europe is fraught with different legacies of violence and postcolonial melancholia Part Three gives an idea of the kind of future that can be offered to post conflict societies defined as contact zones by exploring opportunities for dialogue restoration and reconciliation that can be envisaged from a gendered and postcolonial perspective through alternative feminist practices and the work of art and their redemptive power in mobilizing social change or increasing national healing processes Though strongly anchored in postcolonial critique the chapters draw from a range of traditions and expertise including conflict studies gender theory visual studies new media theory sociology race theory international security studies and religion studies

Popular Culture, Political Economy and the Death of Feminism Penny Griffin, 2015-06-05 While some have argued that we live in a postfeminist era that renders feminism irrelevant to people's contemporary lives this book takes feminism the source of eternal debate contestation and ambivalence and situates the term within the popular cultural practices of everyday life It explores the intimate connections between the politics of feminism and the representational practices of contemporary popular culture examining how feminism is made sensible through visual imagery and popular culture representations It investigates how popular culture is produced represented and consumed to reproduce the conditions in which feminism is valued or dismissed and asks whether antifeminism exists in commodity form and is commercially viable Written in an accessible style and analysing a broad range of popular culture artefacts including commercial advertising printed and digital news related journalism and commentary music film television programming websites and social media this book will be of use to students researchers and practitioners of International Relations International Political Economy and gender cultural and media studies

Women and Militant Wars Swati Parashar, 2014-03-05 This book explores women's militant activities in insurgent wars and seeks to understand what women do in wars In International Relations inter state conflict anti state armed insurgency and armed militancy are essentially seen as wars where collective violence against civilians and security forces is used to achieve political objectives Extending the notion of war as politics of injury to the armed militancy in Indian administered Kashmir and the Tamil armed insurgency in Sri Lanka this book explores how women participate in militant wars and how that politics not only shapes the gendered understandings of women's identities and bodies but is in turn shaped by them The case studies discussed in the book offer new comparative insight into two different and most prevalent forms of insurgent wars today religio political and ethno nationalist Empirical analyses of women's roles in the Sri Lankan Tamil militant group the LTTE and the logistical ideological support women provide to militant groups active in Indian administered Kashmir suggest that these insurgent wars have their own gender dynamics in recruitment and operational strategies Thus Women and Militant Wars provides an excellent insight into the gender politics of these insurgencies and women's roles and experiences within them This book will be of much interest to students and scholars of critical war and security studies feminist international relations gender studies terrorism and political violence South Asia studies and IR in general

Making Women Pay Smitha

Radhakrishnan,2021-10-25 In Making Women Pay Smitha Radhakrishnan explores India's microfinance industry which in the past two decades has come to saturate the everyday lives of women in the name of state led efforts to promote financial inclusion and women's empowerment. Despite this favorable language Radhakrishnan argues microfinance in India does not provide a market oriented development intervention even though it may appear to help women borrowers. Rather this commercial industry seeks to extract the maximum value from its customers through exploitative relationships that benefit especially class privileged men. Through ethnography interviews and historical analysis Radhakrishnan demonstrates how the unpaid and underpaid labor of marginalized women borrowers ensures both profitability and symbolic legitimacy for microfinance institutions, their employees and their leaders. In doing so she centralizes gender in the study of microfinance and reveals why most microfinance programs target women and explores the exploitative implications of this targeting. Urban Agriculture for Growing City Regions Undine Giseke, Maria Gerster-Bentaya, Frank Helten, Matthias Kraume, Dieter Scherer, Guido Spars, Fouad Amraoui, Abdelaziz Adidi, Said Berdouz, Mohamed Chlaida, Majid Mansour, Mohamed Mdafai, 2015-09-07 This book demonstrates how agriculture can play a determining role in integrated climate optimised urban development. Agriculture within urban growth centres today is more than an economic or social left over or a niche practice. It is instead a complex system that offers multiple potentials for interaction with the urban system. Urban open space and agriculture can be linked to a productive green infrastructure. This forms new urban rural linkages in the urbanizing region and helps shape the city. But in order to do this agriculture has to be seen as an integral part of the urban fabric and it has to be put on the local agenda. Urban Agriculture for Growing City Regions takes the example of Casablanca one of the fastest growing cities in North Africa to investigate this approach. The creation of synergies between the urban and rural in an emerging megacity is demonstrated through pilot projects, design solutions and multifunctional modules. These synergies assure greater resource efficiency particularly regarding the use and reuse of water and they strengthen regional food security and the social integration of multiple spheres. A transdisciplinary research approach brings together different scientific disciplines and local actors into a process of integrated knowledge production. The book will have a long lasting legacy and is essential reading for researchers, planners, practitioners and policy makers who are working on urban development and urban agricultural strategies. Current Sociology, 1954 Vols 1-4 contain v 1-4 of International bibliography of sociology. Voluntary Standards for Sustainable Food Systems Alexandre Meybeck, Suzanne Redfern, 2014 The aim of the workshop is to examine various types of standards and labels and to build upon lessons learned from concrete examples to identify issues and challenges to be addressed, discuss their potential contribution to improve sustainability of food systems and propose measures in order to improve their effectiveness.
