

Microbiology Unit 1 Chapter 3 Notes:

Identification of Microorganisms: One goal of these procedures is to attach a name or identity to the microbe, using information gathered from inspection and investigation. Identification is accomplished through the use of keys, charts, & computer programs that analyze the data and arrive at a final conclusion.

Inoculation of Microorganisms: The sample is placed into a container of the medium that will support its growth. The medium may be solid or liquid and held in tubes, plates, flasks, and even eggs. The delivery tool is usually a loop, needle, swab, or syringe.

Information Gathering of Microorganisms:

- Additional tests for microbial function and characteristics may include inoculations into specialized media that determine biochemical traits, immunological testing, and genetic typing. Such tests will provide specific information unique to a certain microbe.

Specimen Collection of Microorganisms:

- Microbiologists begin by sampling the object of their interest. It could be nearly anything or place on earth. Very common sources are body fluids, foods, water, soil, plants, and animals, but even places like icebergs, volcanoes, and rocks can be sampled.

Incubation of Microorganisms:

- Inoculated media are placed in a controlled environment (incubator) to promote growth. During the hours or days of this process, a culture develops as the visible growth of the microbes in the container of medium.

Inspection of Microorganisms:

- Cultures are observed for the macroscopic appearance of growth characteristics. Cultures are examined under the microscope for basic details such as cell type and shape. This may be enhanced through staining and the use of special microscopes.
