Julius Caesar is one of the plays Shakespeare wrote in an extraordinary burst of creativity in and around 1599.

Much Ado About Nothing, Henry V, As You Like It and an early draft of Hamlet are believed to have also been completed around this time. A performance of Julius Caesar is described by Swiss tourist Thomas Platter in his diary in September of 1599. It may have been the play that opened the new Globe Theatre, although Henry V and As You Like It also vie for that title.

The posthumous First Folio (1623) version is considered the original and only official publication of this text. Julius Caesar appears towards the end of the Folio, in the “tragedies” section. On the contents page it is listed as “The Life and Death of Julius Caesar”. Julius Caesar is one of four plays that use ancient Rome as their backdrop. The others are Titus Andronicus (written in the early 1590s), Antony and Cleopatra (written around 1606) and Coriolanus (written around 1607). Together, the four Roman plays cover a swathe of ancient Roman history, from the early republic (Coriolanus) to the fall of the republic (Julius Caesar) to the rise of the empire (Antony and Cleopatra) to the late empire (Titus Andronicus). Titus is the only one of the four that is entirely fictional and not based on recorded historical events. As always with historically based works Shakespeare melds fact, fiction, and legend in Julius Caesar to produce a challenging, ambivalent drama that reflects some of the issues of Shakespeare’s own political climate.

Before writing Julius Caesar, Shakespeare had written almost all of his history plays and at least seven comedies. This was just his third tragedy, after Titus Andronicus and Romeo and Juliet. It should be noted, however, that Shakespeare’s plays usually defy classification. Just as the comedies can delve into the darkness of the human experience, Julius Caesar explores
