Manual of Laboratory Procedures for Quality Evaluation of Sorghum and Pearl Millet Manel I. Gomez, 1997 This manual is for use by scientists and technicians who screen and evaluate varieties of sorghum and pearl millet for their grain quality. It is based on experience in agronomy and food technology acquired over several years in SADC ICRISAT's Sorghum and Millet Improvement Program in Zimbabwe where there is a focus on generalized screening methods for broad grain qualities rather than detailed component analysis of a molecular nature. Laboratory procedures including qualitative and quantitative methods were compiled from existing sources and modified in several ways for the Program's use. Quality parameters were focused on grain on primary products such as flour meal and malt and on such secondary products as baked flour steamed flour and porridge. The grain and these products were evaluated using physical and chemical methods and a database was created to serve as an empirical reference document derived from field and laboratory results. The manual's first section on grain quality evaluation describes rapid techniques for routine screening. The qualitative parameters used are color pericarp thickness testa endosperm texture and hardness. Quantitative parameters comprise 100 kernel weight Agtron readings and moisture floaters dehulling loss milling yield size fractions and water absorption expressed as percentages. Eight chemical methods of evaluation are described in the second section among which only rapid tannin analysis forms part of routine screening tests. The last section
