

Med-Surg HESI Review – Practice Questions

1. A client with a nasogastric tube attached to low suction states that she is nauseated. The nurse assesses that there has been no drainage through the nasogastric tube in the last 2 hours. Which action should the nurse take first?
 - a. Irrigate the nasogastric tube with sterile normal saline
 - b. Reposition the client on her side
 - c. Advance the nasogastric tube 5 cm
 - d. Administer an intravenous antiemetic as prescribed

ANS: B

The immediate priority is to determine if the tube is functioning correctly, which would then relieve the client's nausea. The least invasive intervention, repositioning the client, should be attempted first, followed by options A and C, unless either of these interventions is contraindicated. If these measures are unsuccessful, the client may require option D.

2. The nurse is caring for a critically ill client with cirrhosis of the liver who has a nasogastric tube draining bright red blood. The nurse notes that the client's serum hemoglobin and hematocrit levels are decreased. Which additional change in laboratory data should the nurse expect?
 - a. Increased serum albumin level
 - b. Decreased serum creatinine
 - c. Decreased serum ammonia level
 - d. Increased liver function test results

ANS: C

The breakdown of glutamine in the intestine and the increased activity of colonic bacteria from the digestion of proteins increase ammonia levels in clients with advanced liver disease, so removal of blood, a protein source, from the intestine results in a reduced level of ammonia. Options A, B, and D will not be significantly affected by the removal of blood.

3. A client on telemetry has a pattern of uncontrolled atrial fibrillation with a rapid ventricular response. Based on this finding, the nurse anticipates assisting the physician with which treatment?
 - a. Administer Lidocaine, 75 mg IV push
 - b. Perform synchronized cardioversion
 - c. Defibrillate the client as soon as possible
 - d. Administer Atropine, 0.4 mg IV push

ANS: B

With uncontrolled atrial fibrillation, the treatment of choice is synchronized cardioversion to convert the cardiac rhythm back to normal sinus rhythm. Option A is a medication used for ventricular dysrhythmias. Option C is not for a client with atrial fibrillation; it is reserved for clients with life-threatening dysrhythmias, such as ventricular fibrillation and unstable ventricular tachycardia. Option D is the drug of choice in symptomatic sinus bradycardia, not atrial fibrillation.

4. The nurse is interviewing a client who is taking interferon-alfa-2a and ribavirin combination therapy for hepatitis C. The client reports experiencing overwhelming feelings of depression. Which action should the nurse take first?
 - a. Recommend mental health counseling

Med Surg Review Questions:

Medical-surgical Nurse Exam Practice Questions Med-Surg Exam Secrets Test Prep, 2014-03-31 Medical Surgical Nurse Exam Practice Questions are the simplest way to prepare for the Medical Surgical Nurse Examination Practice is an essential part of preparing for a test and improving a test taker's chance of success. The best way to practice taking a test is by going through lots of practice test questions. If someone has never taken a practice test then they are unprepared for the types of questions and answer choices that they will encounter on the official test. There is a tremendous advantage to someone taking the test that is already familiar with the questions and answer choices. Another advantage of taking practice tests is that you can assess your performance and see if you need to study and practice more or if you're already prepared enough to achieve success on your test day. If you do well on the practice test then you know you're prepared. If you struggle on the practice test then you know you may still have more work to do to get prepared. Taking lots of practice tests helps ensure that you are not surprised or disappointed on your test day. Our Medical Surgical Nurse Exam Practice Questions give you the opportunity to test your knowledge on a set of questions. You can know everything that is going to be covered on the test and it will not do you any good on test day if you have not had a chance to practice. Repetition is a key to success and using practice test questions allows you to reinforce your strengths and improve your weaknesses. Detailed answer explanations are also included for each question. It may sound obvious but you have to know which questions you missed and more importantly why you missed them to be able to avoid making the same mistakes again when you take the test.
