Memoirs From The House Of The Dead:

The House of the Dead Fyodor Dostoyevsky, 2004-02-05 In January 1850 Dostoyevsky was sent to a remote Siberian prison camp for his part in a political conspiracy The four years he spent there startlingly re created in The House of the Dead were the most agonizing of his life In this fictionalized account he recounts his soul destroying incarceration through the cool detached tones of his narrator Aleksandr Petrovich Goryanchikov the daily battle for survival the wooden plank beds the cabbage soup swimming with cockroaches his strange family of boastful ugly cruel convicts Yet The House of the Dead is far more than a work of documentary realism it is also a powerful novel of redemption describing one man s spiritual and moral death and the miracle of his gradual reawakening The House of the Dead Fyodor Dostoyevsky, 1915 Memoirs from the House of the Dead Fyodor Dostoyevsky, 2001 In this almost documentary account of his own experiences of penal servitude in Serbia Dostoyevsky describes the physical and mental suffering of the convicts the squalor and the degradation in relentless detail The intricate procedure whereby the men strip for the bath without removing their ten pound leg fetters is an extraordinary tour de force compared by Turgenev to passages from Dante s Inferno Terror and resignation the rampages of a psychopath the brief serenity interlude of Christmas Day are evoked by Dostoyevsky writing several years after his release with a strikingly uncharacteristic detachment For this reason House of the Dead is certainly the least Dostoyevskian of his works yet paradoxically it ranks among his great masterpieces

Notes from a Dead House Fyodor Dostoyevsky, 2016-03-22 In 1849 Dostoyevsky was sentenced to four years at hard labor in a Siberian prison camp for participating in a socialist discussion group The novel he wrote after his release based on notes he smuggled out not only brought him fame but also founded the tradition of Russian prison writing Notes from a Dead House sometimes translated as The House of the Dead depicts brutal punishments feuds betrayals and the psychological effects of confinement but it also reveals the moments of comedy and acts of kindness that Dostoyevsky witnessed among his fellow prisoners To get past government censors Dostoyevsky made his narrator a common law criminal rather than a political prisoner but the perspective is unmistakably his own His incarceration was a transformative experience that nourished all his later works particularly Crime and Punishment Dostoyevsky s narrator discovers that even among the most debased criminals there are strong and beautiful souls His story is finally a profound meditation on freedom The prisoner himself knows that he is a prisoner but no brands no fetters will make him forget that he is a human being from the Dead House The House of the Dead is a loosely knit collection of facts events and philosophical discussion organised by theme rather than as a continuous story Fyodor Dostoyevsky himself spent four years in exile in such a camp following his conviction for involvement in the Petrashevsky Circle This experience allowed him to describe with great authenticity the conditions of prison life and the characters of the convicts Enjoy this Mogul Classics edition of Fyodor Dostoyevsky s The House of the Dead Memoirs from the House of The Dead Fyodor Dostoevsky,2022 The House of the Dead Fyodor Dostoevsky,2018-03-05 If one would truly fathom how deep that reality is and what its phenomenon in literature amounts to one should turn again to that favourite idyllic book of youth by my countrywoman Mme Cottin Elizabeth or the Exiles of Siberia and compare for example the typical scene of Elizabeth s sleep in the wooden chapel in the snow where she ought to have been frozen to death but fared very comfortably with the Siberian actuality of Dosto effsky Julius Bramont
