An Autoethnography of Teaching English in Japan: Bridging Life and Academia Sanae Oda-Sheehan ,2022-01-20

Based on her professional and personal experiences in education as well as in business Sanae Oda Sheehan PhD came to realize that there may be several problematic gaps hindering learning effectiveness in the Japanese EFL context In exploring possibilities to bridge those gaps she proposes the framework called the Pedagogical Trinity the integration of L2 pragmatics and grammar pedagogy to promote the implementation of communicative language teaching This book shares her experiences in exploring how to bring about such integration and bridge those gaps by utilizing autoethnography Autoethnography is a burgeoning and promising approach in the qualitative research field in which researchers use themselves as the research subject to better understand sociocultural complexities through the connectivity between self and others By employing the autoethnographic approach and analyzing in depth face to face interviews and journal entries Oda Sheehan reflected on her teaching practices and her own identity formation to explore the critical factors for the integrative approach Through this life sized portrait of the research project she obtained interpretive insights that show how critical it is for teachers to have an awareness of their multiple identities and perspectives long term visions and readiness for necessary transformation This book meticulously crafts and demonstrates how autoethnography can be utilized as a research method to merge analytic rigor and creative dynamics Through the connectivity in an autoethnographic orientation readers may find themselves in the stories unfolded in the chapters and be guided to reflect on their own experiences and endeavors In that way what is presented in this book may become readers own stories giving them the strength to go forward in life This book can provide a platform of open dialogue to explore approaches to bridge life and academia collaboratively

White,Catherine A. Lutz,1992 The field of psychological anthropology has changed a great deal since the 1940s and 1950s when it was often known as Culture and Personality Studies Rooted in psychoanalytic psychology its early practitioners sought to extend that psychology through the study of cross cultural variation in personality and child rearing practices Psychological anthropology has since developed in a number of new directions Tensions between individual experience and collective meanings remain as central to the field as they were fifty years ago but alongside fresh versions of the psychoanalytic approach other approaches to the study of cognition emotion the body and the very nature of subjectivity have been introduced And in the place of an earlier tendency to treat a culture as an undifferentiated whole psychological anthropology now recognizes the complex internal structure of cultures The contributors to this state of the art collection are all leading figures in contemporary psychological anthropology and they write about recent developments in the field Sections of the book discuss cognition developmental psychology biology psychiatry and psychoanalysis areas that have always been integral to psychological anthropology but which are now being transformed by new perspectives on the body meaning agency and communicative practice Documents of the Senate of the State of New York New York (State).
