Rewilding in Practice Ian Convery, Steve Carver, Monica T. Engel, Sally Hawkins, Rene Beyers, Yue Cao, 2025-03-03

Rewilding is a long term and large scale process which works to restore degraded ecosystems or social ecological systems to the point that they are resilient and self sustaining and therefore requiring little in terms of conservation management Rewilding practice focuses on re establishing ecological processes including trophic levels that were lost mainly due to anthropogenic disturbance It also aims to affect a paradigm shift in human nature relationships with intentions to better understand the interdependencies between humans and nature so that people can appreciate and accommodate nature in their landscapes and make more informed and sustainable decisions about how we live In this sense rewilding has real transformational potential The Resettlement of Sex Offenders after Custody David Thompson, Terry

Thomas, 2017-07-14 Circles of Support and Accountability is a voluntary initiative that assists people with convictions for sexual offences to resettle in the community People leaving prison with such convictions often have difficulties in resettling They carry the burden of the conviction itself which may be both stigmatising and isolating and they are the subject of sex offender register requirements parole and other supervisory conditions Circles of Support and Accountability in the UK started over ten years ago and have slowly spread across the country They work closely with the police and probation services but rely entirely on volunteers prepared to give up their time to work with people often otherwise shunned by communities Circles offer support to the person concerned but also hold them accountable for their future behaviour They aim to ensure there are no more victims This book is based on original research and provides a close up picture of how these Circles of Support and Accountability work in practice It brings together for the first time the voices of all the participants from the offenders and the volunteers through to the Coordinators who link the volunteers to the professionals in the form of the police and probation services The research was commissioned by Circles UK and funded by the Wates Foundation and the University of Leeds School of Law Police Procedure and Evidence in the Criminal Justice System Barrie

Green Savings Marilyn A. Brown, Yu Wang, 2015-09-29 This landmark work lauds the benefits of decreased energy consumption investigating its relationship to public policy and analyzing its potential billion dollar benefits to the U S economy U S consumers tend to use energy indiscriminately something they may no longer be able to do with impunity This game changing book asserts that reducing energy consumption should be a frontline strategy to address global climate change threats to energy security and the challenge of grid reliability The book supports two bold arguments that policies motivating greater investment in high energy efficiency should be a priority and that energy efficiency can help the nation in times of crisis To make their case for the necessity of prioritizing demand reduction the authors examine the policies and markets operating in a number of leading cities states and nations across the globe to uncover the keys to their success These examples show how demand side strategies can significantly reduce pollution cut costs and make the electric grid more resilient The authors explain why these technologies are not widely adopted and assess the potential savings they can produce The book will be an eye opener for policymakers energy professionals and the public as it demonstrates how cost effective demand reduction policies can improve air quality strengthen electricity markets and generate jobs

Local, Traditional and Indigenous Food Systems in the 21st Century to Combat Obesity, Undernutrition and Climate Change, 2nd edition Rebecca Kanter, Sofia Boza, Gina Kennedy, 2023-07-31 Traditional and indigenous food systems have existed for centuries and were in balance with local food supplies globally However between the mid 20th and early 21st century the green revolution dramatically altered food production which in turn affected the inclusivity of traditional production systems within food systems and subsequently traditional dietary intakes This change was accompanied by lifestyle changes and spurred a global nutrition transition Today the world faces a global syndemic of obesity undernutrition and climate change A new call to action to create food systems that nourish people and sustain the planet is needed Traditional and indigenous food systems have long been recognized as systems that can both support good human nutrition as well as maintain a balance with nature There is an underutilized knowledge base around traditional and indigenous food systems This includes the knowledge of nutritious species traditional culinary preparations and cultural practices Greater agricultural production of underutilized species can result in more sustainable agricultural and food systems which can also help improve livelihoods and food security Traditional and indigenous cultural practices with respect to both land and water management as well as culinary practices contribute to both sustainable food production and consumption These practices require a greater evidence base in order to be incorporated into public health nutrition initiatives related to improving dietary quality such as food based dietary guidelines for example An increased focus on the importance of local traditional and indigenous food systems and nutrition could therefore help countries to improve human nutrition and ideally help mitigate the global syndemic of obesity undernutrition and climate change This Research Topic will focus on documenting diverse local food systems and promoting elements within them that can help improve nutrition and health both human and planetary in various ways including the livelihood development of knowledge holders
