Manual Procedure of Halal Certification Malaysia Malaysia. Jabatan Kemajuan Islam,2005 Malaysia and Globalisation Khairulmaini Osman Salleh,Kanthasamy Nallusamy,2003 Handbook of Halal Food Production Mian N. Riaz,Muhammad M. Chaudry,2018-09-03 Until now books addressing Halal issues have focused on helping Muslim consumers decide what to eat and what to avoid among products currently on the market There was no resource that the food industry could refer to that provided the guidelines necessary to meet the Halal requirements of Muslim consumers in the United States and abroad Handbook of Halal Food Production answers this need by summarizing the fundamentals of Halal food production serving as a valuable reference for food scientists food manufacturers and other food industry professionals This text delivers a wealth of information about Halal food guidelines for food production domestic and international food markets and Halal certification Among chapters that cover production requirements for specific foods such as meat and poultry fish and seafood and dairy products there are other chapters that address global Halal economy Muslim

demography and global Halal trade and comparisons among Kosher Halal and vegetarian In addition the book presents Halal food laws and regulations HACCP and Halal and general guidelines for Halal food Production For persons targeting the Halal food market for the first time this book is particularly valuable providing understanding of how to properly select process and deliver foods In light of the increasing worldwide demand for Halal food service branded packaged food and direct marketed items this volume is more than an expert academic resource it is a beneficial tool for developing new and promising revenue streams Both editors are food scientists who have practical experience in Halal food requirements and Halal certification and the contributors are experts in the Halal food industries

The Halal Food Handbook Yunes Ramadan Al-Teinaz, Stuart Spear, Ibrahim H. A. Abd El-Rahim, 2020-03-09 A unique handbook providing a set of good practice standards for both producers and consumers of Halal food This accessible authoritative book covers all aspects of Halal from its origins through to how we expect Halal to develop in the coming years It explains what Halal is where it came from how it is practiced and by whom In addition to putting Halal in a religious and cultural context the book provides practical standards for those working in the Halal trade It explains why there are so many different interpretations of Halal and why this needs to be resolved if international trade is to be developed Each chapter in The Halal Food Handbook is written by leading experts in their particular field of study The first one discusses how regulatory bodies have failed to stem the miss selling and adulteration of Halal foods The next chapters cover the slaughter process and issues around good practice The book then looks at regulators covering Sharia law UK national laws and the EU and outlines the legal framework for enforcing the law It also compares and contrasts different types of religious slaughter for faith foods examines attempts to set an international standard for trade and discusses pork adulteration in Halal foods The final chapter covers other aspects of Halal including cosmetics tourism lifestyle and banking and finishes with a look at what the future holds for Halal Written and edited by leading international experts in Halal who are backed by the Muslim Council of Britain Presents a set of good practice standards for both producers and consumers of Halal food Covers the complexity of the political legal and practical dimensions of Halal food production The Halal Food Handbook will appeal to a wide audience including abattoirs manufacturers retailers regulators academics public bodies catering for Muslims and the broader Muslim community

Malaysian Standards Handbook on Processes in the Food Industry, 2005 Halal Food Certification and Business Performance in Malaysia Dr. Mohamed Syazwan Ab Talib, Dr. Thoo Ai Chin, Prof. Dr. Abubakar Abdul Hamid, 2018-08-01 Halal food certification plays a pivotal role in both consumers food purchase and consumption and food manufacturers business conducts The growing trends of Halal food have encouraged firms to implement Halal food certification Numerous studies have recognized the importance of Halal food certification to consumers rather than Halal food manufacturers However Halal food certificate motivations implementation and the impact on firm performance particularly the Malaysia Standard on Halal Food MS1500 2009 are hardly examined Therefore this study aims to investigate the motivations behind Halal food certification and its impact on food manufacturers

operational marketing and financial performances Resource based view and institutional theory underpin the proposed conceptual framework of the study Five hypotheses were proposed to determine the relationships between certification motivations and firm performances A quantitative methodology was adopted and data were collected using self administered questionnaires A total of 210 Halal certified food manufacturing companies in Peninsular Malaysia participated in the survey A partial least square structural equation modeling was conducted for data analysis A key finding is that both the external and internal motivations positively influence Halal food certificate implementation Moreover it was also found that implementing Halal food certification has a positive relationship with firm performance Further findings indicated that government intervention consumer demand industry competition employee commitment operation improvement and marketing return are significant motivators for Halal food certificate implementation Results also revealed that Halal food certification has a significant impact on the respondents operation marketing and financial performances Theoretically this study offers insights to the significance of consumer pressure as a normative isomorphism in the institutional theory Additionally this study reinforces the understanding of Halal food certification as a significant and relevant strategic tool to remain competitive within the profoundly homogenous and saturated food industry Practically the information gained from this research could potentially be beneficial to encourage non certified firms to become Halal certified Future research are encouraged to study the motives and impact of Halal food certification from various countries as well as apply this research across other industries like pharmaceutical tourism or cosmetic
