COVID-19 and Climate Change in BRICS Nations Ndivhuho Tshikovhi, Andréa Santos, Xiaolong Zou, Fulufhelo Netswera, Irina Zotovna Yarygina, Sriram Divi, 2023-12-29 This book provides a quantitative and qualitative overview of the overall impact that the COVID 19 pandemic had on the capacity of Brazil Russia India China and South Africa BRICS countries to reshape global climate governance and explore areas for mutual cooperation BRICS countries account for nearly 40% of the total world population and are thus intrinsic to the global efforts and results for Agenda 2030 the Sustainable Development Goals the Paris Agreement and beyond The outbreak of the COVID 19 pandemic does not at first appear to be directly related to BRICS policies to address climate change but it has influenced the pace and nature of climate action due to the loss of human and financial capital This book examines this correlation and raises awareness of the COVID 19 pandemic s impacts and potential solutions on BRICS climate strategies Drawing on case studies from each country the authors use examples from urban governance energy transition strategy foreign investment and more to illustrate how COVID 19 has negatively or positively impacted climate data and draw wider conclusions about the long term climate policies that may be implemented This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change environmental politics and governance and global development studies

Climate Change 2014: Mitigation of Climate Change Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, 2015-01-26 This latest Fifth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC will again form the standard reference for all those concerned with climate change and its consequences including students researchers and policy makers in environmental science meteorology climatology biology ecology atmospheric chemistry and environmental policy     Climate Change 2014: Mitigation of Climate Change Ottmar Edenhofer, 2015-01-26 This latest Fifth Assessment Report of the IPCC will again form the standard reference for all those concerned with climate change and its consequences     Exploring the Impact of the IPCC Assessment Reports on Science Eleftheria Vasileiadou, Gaston Heimeriks, Arthur Petersen, 2012 Even though critique to IPCC is certainly not new the climate controversies of 2009 and 2010 brought this critique again to the fore in public media The paper contributes to this ongoing debate and investigates empirically the impact of the four Assessment Reports of the IPCC on scientific publications and science through scientometric analyses of cited references to IPCC reports The results indicate among other things that the aggregate impact of IPCC reports on scientific publications has increased through each consecutive assessment report independently from the increase of the climate change field showing a pattern which suggests that the references are quite generic Both disciplinary distribution and geographical distribution of the impact of the reports are skewed the former towards geophysical sciences the latter towards western developed countries However this skewness is decreasing over time Given the increasing impact further away from the climate change field it is important that the IPCC becomes more transparent about its internal processes and main conclusions
