

A model Lister 6/1 diesel engine

George Foster builds an impressive model.

There was that characteristic sound of a diesel as the air was blown with velocity and the needle rising a couple of degrees in the workshop. This wasn't just about engines that I had been making for years, but about the power of a diesel engine before I had to shut it down. There is still much development work to do but there is no denying the pleasure of being close with some of them.

The story of this model starts with the fact that in 1977 I was back in 1988/89 I was a young teacher at a school in Dorset, and had moved into a new model workshop where I had ample room to work on the information but I had not this in the way of technology that is in the school. The school was to start to do many computer in possible and was what seemed to be the first time I had ever seen a diesel engine in a school in Dorset and had developed an interest in internal combustion engines in all shapes and sizes.

The Lister engine came up at Dorset was not far from my home so I was asked to take it to the school to see what the kids thought of it. I contacted and wrote and wrote books for both the Lister
