Them Before Us Katy Faust, Stacy Manning, 2021-02-23 Them Before Us has flipped the script on adult centric attitudes toward marriage parenthood and reproductive technologies by framing these issues around a child's right to be raised by both their mother and father Set against a backdrop of sound research the compelling stories throughout each chapter confirm that a child's mental physical and emotional well being depends on being loved by the two people responsible for their existence It's a paradigm shift that will impact the personal and the political and reframe every marriage and family conversation across the globe Them Before Us dispels many prevalent harmful myths concerning children's rights such as Kids need only love and safety moms and dads are optional Love makes a family biology is irrelevant Marriage is about adults it has nothing to do with kids Children are resilient and will get over divorce Studies show no difference in outcomes for kids with same sex parents Sperm and egg donor kids are fortunate because they are so wanted Surrogacy is a great way to help wannabe parents have a baby Reproductive technologies are just like adoption Are you tired of a culture that views adults as victims in family matters when it's clear that kids are the ones who truly pay the price If so we are your people and this is your movement

Fathers and Forefathers Martin Robb, 2020-12-15 Research on fathers and fatherhood has blossomed in recent years focusing for the most part on present day fathering experiences but also beginning to uncover hidden narratives of past fatherhood This collection aims to add something new to this expanding field by exploring the dynamic relationship between present and past fatherhoods The popular understanding of fathers in past generations as being detached and uninvolved in the lives of their children can be said to play a significant part in the construction of modern fathering identities with ideas of new fatherhood being played off against notions of historical fathering practices However research has begun to show that these popular myths often misremember the past judging it by current standards and obscuring the diverse nature of fathering practices in the recent and distant past A genealogical approach is able to critically examine these intergenerational constructions of fatherhood and more positively illuminate the ways in which experiences of fathering and being fathered are passed on between generations The contributions to this collection use a genealogical approach broadly defined to fathering and fatherhood as a way of defamiliarizing accepted narratives and suggesting new ways of thinking about men and their relationships with their children Young People Using Family Violence Kate Fitz-Gibbon, Heather Douglas, Jane Maree Maher, 2021-05-08 This book examines the use of violence by children and young people in family settings and proposes specialised and age appropriate responses to these children and young people It interrogates the adequacy and effectiveness of current service and justice system responses including analysis of police court and specialist service responses It proposes new approaches to children and young people who use violence that are evidence based non punitive and informed by an understanding of the complexity of needs and the importance of age appropriate service responses Bringing together a range of Australian and International experts it sheds new light on questions such as How can we best understand and respond to the use of family violence by young people To what extent do traditional family violence responses address the experiences of adolescents who use violence in family settings What barriers to help seeking exist for parental and sibling victims of adolescent family violence To what degree do existing support and justice services provide adequate responses to those using adolescent family violence and their families In what circumstances do children kill their biological and adopted parents The explicit focus on child and adolescent family violence produces new knowledge in the area of family violence which will be of relevance to academics policy makers and family violence practitioners in Australia and internationally The Spectator ,2006 Work-life Balance ,2008
