Meijering, H. traditional milking parlour Systems have gradually been improved and maybe even more importantly farmers have become more familiar with their potential and limitations both technically and in herd management The number of farms milking with an automatic milking system has worldwide increased to more than 2 200 by the end of 2003 From 2000 to now the level of scientific knowledge on various aspects and consequences of automatic milking has increased largely as well because of research efforts all over the world A significant share of these efforts has been made within the framework of a EU granted project on the implications of the introduction of automatic milking on dairy farms Some seven research institutes and six industrial companies from six countries joined their expertise and experience in order to facilitate a widespread adoption of automatic milking without undesirable side effects This book reflects the knowledge on automatic milking generated all over the world in the last few years Its contents can therefore be regarded as the present state of knowledge in the field of automatic milking for a better understanding Manual of Clinical Microbiology Patrick R.
