Les Annelid Lumbricus

Margaret Lewis

Les Annelid Lumbricus:

Immunology of Annelids Martin Bilej, Edwin L. Cooper, P. Roch, 1993-12-16 Immunology of Annelids provides a state of the art review of the biological and biochemical processes involved in defense reactions of annelids The book covers phylogeny taxonomy and fundamental body structure to provide basic information essential to developing a full understanding of the defense system of an organism Physiological aspects of the relationship between the immune systems and cells and their limitations are discussed in detail and the role of cells in cellular defense transplantation and humoral defenses is explained The importance of annelids and their defense reaction from the phylogenetic standpoint is examined in a chapter comparing vertebrate and invertebrate defense strategies Immunology of Annelids is a practical reference for cell biologists immunologists evolutionary and developmental biologists and other researchers who need insight into the development and hierarchy of immune reactions A New Model for Analyzing Antimicrobial Peptides with Biomedical Applications

Edwin Lowell Cooper, Alain Beschin, Martin Bilej, 2002 Annotation This book is aimed at two audiences First it will present evidence for the earthworm s immune system Second the results strongly suggest that certain molecules of the earthworm s immune system may be exploited as natural antibiotics thus the biomedical applications There are two advantages for using earthworms First they are an inexpensive non controversial invertebrate model Second in contrast to other invertebrates e g Drosophila C elegans they are essential for maintaining the integrity of soil Earthworms have a highly effective immune system since cancer cannot be induced in them nor does it seem to occur in natural populations Cytotoxicity of cancer cells has been examined in relation to two earthworm leukocytes based upon structure cell differentiation antigens function revealed by FACS and mAbs These cells are SMALL 8 11 m electron dense SC positive for human cell adhesion molecules CD11a CD45RA CD45RO CDw49b CD54 for 2 microglobulin and for Thy 1 LARGE 12 15 m electron lucent cells LC negative for these same markers Leukocytes synthesize and secrete lytic molecules fetidins CCF 1 lysenin eiseniapore participate in recognition of binding to killing and sequestration of cancer cells in vitro Earthworm lytic levels are significantly higher than those of human NK cells Earthworms possess a highly evolved unique and efficient immune system that has facilitated long term survival Structure and Evolution of Invertebrate Nervous Systems

Andreas Schmidt-Rhaesa, Steffen Harzsch, Günter Purschke, 2015-12-17 The nervous system is particularly fascinating for many biologists because it controls animal characteristics such as movement behavior and coordinated thinking Invertebrate neurobiology has traditionally been studied in specific model organisms whilst knowledge of the broad diversity of nervous system architecture and its evolution among metazoan animals has received less attention This is the first major reference work in the field for 50 years bringing together many leading evolutionary neurobiologists to review the most recent research on the structure of invertebrate nervous systems and provide a comprehensive and authoritative overview for a new generation of researchers Presented in full colour throughout Structure and Evolution of Invertebrate Nervous Systems synthesizes and illustrates the numerous new findings that have been made possible with light and electron microscopy. These include the recent introduction of new molecular and optical techniques such as immunohistochemical staining of neuron specific antigens and fluorescence in situ hybridization combined with visualization by confocal laser scanning microscopy. New approaches to analysing the structure of the nervous system are also included such as micro computational tomography, cryo soft X ray tomography and various 3 D visualization techniques. The book follows a systematic and phylogenetic structure covering a broad range of taxa interspersed with chapters focusing on selected topics in nervous system functioning which are presented as research highlights and perspectives. This comprehensive reference work will be an essential companion for graduate students and researchers alike in the fields of metazoan neurobiology, morphology, zoology, phylogeny and evolution.
