- The outside phase cannot find the outside network
 - Does changing the outside phase to external fix it or not
 - Does the router (OS) have some kind of rule determining if the outside network will be external now based on whether you're in DMZ, private, or not both the outside and the internal network are private
- There is something wrong with the outside network while using it
 - Phase 1 is connected with the outside phase after setting it (IP not matching the network)
 - Does the changing status of the network by adding more info
 - Are changing the status for an OS interface or DMZ. How many times you add and remove it, or is it connected with the outside network

- The wireless network always disconnects & make users often reconnect to the mobile device.
- The wireless network must share a low power (100mW)
- There is an interaction between the mobile device and the wireless network, as the wireless network is always open range. Hence it is not secure the wireless network with any firewall in order to increase the confidence privacy of the system. Hence we have the wireless network and the mobile device in the same domain.
