Jsc 2014 Question Papers For Agriculture:

China's Peasant Agriculture and Rural Society Jan Douwe van der Ploeg, Jingzhong Ye, 2016-05-20 China's agriculture and rural society has undergone rapid changes in recent years. Many poorer farmers and younger people have moved to cities and yet China has an immense challenge to feed a growing and more affluent population. This book provides a bottom up view of China's agriculture showing how the many millions of Chinese peasants make a living. It presents a vivid description of the mechanisms used by rural households to defend and sustain their livelihoods, increase their agricultural production and improve the quality of their lives. The authors examine the newly emerging trajectories of entrepreneurial and capitalist farming and assess whether such alternatives will be able to meet the enormous social, economic and environmental challenges that China faces. The book also explores the paradigm that has underpinned the organisation and development of China's agriculture from ancient times to the present day. This shows the importance of balancing in the Chinese model as compared to the one-sided imposition of continual modernization in the western model. It is argued that such balancing is at the core of the current Sannong policy referring to the three ruralities of food sovereignty, wellbeing for peasant households and an attractive countryside.

Resourcing an Agroecological Urbanism Chiara Tornaghi, Michiel Dehaene, 2021-03-07 Foregrounding an innovative and radical perspective on food planning, this book makes the case for an agroecological urbanism in which food is a key component in the reinvention of new and just social arrangements and ecological practices. Building on state-of-the-art and participatory research on farming, urbanism, food policy and advocacy in the field of food system transformation, this book changes the way food planning has been conceptualised to date and invites the reader to fully embrace the transformative potential of an agroecological perspective. Bringing in dialogue from both the rural and urban, the producer and consumer, this book challenges conventional approaches that see them as separate spheres whose problems can only be solved by a reconnection. Instead, it argues for moving away from a food-in-the-city approach towards an urbanism perspective in which the economic and spatial processes that currently drive urbanisation will be unpacked and dissected and new strategies for changing those processes into more equal and just ones are put forward. Drawing on the nascent field of urban political agroecology, this text brings together theoretical re-conceptualisations of urbanism in relation to food planning and the emergence of new agrarian questions. ii critical analysis of experimental methodologies and performing arts for public dialogue reflexivity and food sovereignty research iii experiences of resourceful land management including urban land use and land tenure change and iv theoretical and practical exploration of post capitalist economics that bring consumers and producers together to make the case for an agroecological urbanism Aimed at advanced students and academics in agroecology sustainable food planning urban geography urban planning and critical food studies this book will also be of interest to professionals and activists working with food systems in both the Global North and the Global South
