Multimedia Information Retrieval Stefan Rueger:

Multimedia Information Retrieval Stefan Rueger, 2009-12-08 At its very core multimedia information retrieval means the process of searching for and finding multimedia documents the corresponding research field is concerned with building the best possible multimedia search engines The intriguing bit here is that the query itself can be a multimedia excerpt For example when you walk around in an unknown place and stumble across an interesting landmark would it not be great if you could just take a picture with your mobile phone and send it to a service that finds a similar picture in a database and tells you more about the building and about its significance for that matter This book goes further by examining the full matrix of a variety of query modes versus document types How do you retrieve a music piece by humming What if you want to find news video clips on forest fires using a still image The text discusses underlying techniques and common approaches to facilitate multimedia search engines from metadata driven retrieval via piggy back text retrieval where automated processes create text surrogates for multimedia automated image annotation and content based retrieval The latter is studied in great depth looking at features and distances and how to effectively combine them for efficient retrieval to a point where the readers have the ingredients and recipe in their hands for building their own multimedia search engines Supporting users in their resource discovery mission when hunting for multimedia material is not a technological indexing problem alone We look at interactive ways of engaging with repositories through browsing and relevance feedback roping in geographical context and providing visual summaries for videos The book concludes with an overview of state of the art research projects in the area of multimedia information retrieval which gives an indication of the research and development trends and thereby a glimpse of the future world Table of Contents What is Multimedia Information Retrieval Basic Multimedia Search Technologies Content based Retrieval in Depth Added Services Multimedia Information Retrieval Research Summary

Advanced Topics in Information Retrieval Massimo Melucci, Ricardo Baeza-Yates, 2011-06-10 Information retrieval is the science concerned with the effective and efficient retrieval of documents starting from their semantic content It is employed to fulfill some information need from a large number of digital documents Given the ever growing amount of documents available and the heterogeneous data structures used for storage information retrieval has recently faced and tackled novel applications In this book Melucci and Baeza Yates present a wide spectrum illustration of recent research results in advanced areas related to information retrieval Readers will find chapters on e g aggregated search digital advertising digital libraries discovery of spam and opinions information retrieval in context multimedia resource discovery quantum mechanics applied to information retrieval scalability challenges in web search engines and interactive information retrieval evaluation All chapters are written by well known researchers are completely self contained and comprehensive and are complemented by an integrated bibliography and subject index With this selection the editors provide the most up to date survey of topics usually not addressed in depth in traditional text books on information retrieval The presentation is intended for a wide audience of people interested in information retrieval undergraduate and graduate students post doctoral researchers lecturers and industrial researchers

Multilingual Information Access for Text, Speech and Images Paul Clough, Julio Gonzalo, Michael Kluck, Bernardo Magnini, 2005-08-25 The 5th campaign of the Cross Language Evaluation Forum CLEF for European languages was held from January to September 2004 Participation in the CLEF campaigns has increased each year and CLEF 2004 was no exception 55 groups submitted results for one or more of the different tracks compared with 42 groups in the previous year CLEF 2004 also marked a breaking point with respect to previous campaigns The focus was no longer mainly concentrated on multilingual document retrieval as in previous years but was diversified to include different kinds of text retrieval across languages e.g. exact answers in the question answering track and retrieval on different kinds of media i.e. not just plain text but collections containing image and speech as well In addition increasing attention was given to issues that regard system usability and user satisfaction with tasks to measure the effectiveness of interactive systems or system components being included in both the cross language question answering and image retrieval tasks with the collaboration of the coordinators of the interactive track The campaign culminated in a two and a half day workshop held in Bath UK 15-17 September immediately following the 8th European Conference on Digital Libraries The workshop was attended by nearly 100 researchers and system developers

Semantic-Based Visual Information Retrieval Zhang, Yu-Jin, 2006-11-30 This book presents state of the art advancements and developments in the field and also brings a selection of techniques and algorithms about semantic based visual information retrieval It covers many critical issues such as multi level representation and description scene understanding semantic modeling image and video annotation human computer interaction and more Provided by publisher

ImageCLEF Henning Müller, Paul Clough, Thomas Deselaers, Barbara Caputo, 2010-08-20 The pervasive creation and consumption of content especially visual content is ingrained into our modern world We're constantly consuming visual media content in printed form and in digital form in work and in leisure pursuits Like our cave man forefathers we use pictures to record things which are of importance to us as memory cues for the future but nowadays we also use pictures and images to document processes we use them in engineering in art in science in medicine in entertainment and we also use images in advertising Moreover when images are in digital format either scanned from an analogue format or more often than not born digital we can use the power of our computing and networking to exploit images to great effect Most of the technical problems associated with creating compressing storing transmitting rendering and protecting image data are already solved We use accepted standards and have tremendous infrastructure and the only outstanding challenges apart from managing the scale issues associated with growth are to do with locating images That involves analysing them to determine their content classifying them into related groupings and searching for images To overcome these challenges we currently rely on image metadata the description of the images either captured automatically at creation time or manually added afterwards

Lew,Nicu Sebe,Chabane Djeraba,2004      Multimedia Information Retrieval Peter Schäuble,2012-10-29 Multimedia Information Retrieval Content Based Information Retrieval from Large Text and Audio Databases addresses the future need for sophisticated search techniques that will be required to find relevant information in large digital data repositories such as digital libraries and other multimedia databases Because of the dramatically increasing amount of multimedia data available there is a growing need for new search techniques that provide not only fewer bits but also the most relevant bits to those searching for multimedia digital data This book serves to bridge the gap between classic ranking of text documents and modern information retrieval where composite multimedia documents are searched for relevant information Multimedia Information Retrieval Content Based Information Retrieval from Large Text and Audio Databases begins to pave the way for speech retrieval only recently has the search for information in speech recordings become feasible This book provides the necessary introduction to speech recognition while discussing probabilistic retrieval and text retrieval key topics in classic information retrieval The book then discusses speech retrieval which is even more challenging than retrieving text documents because word boundaries are difficult to detect and recognition errors affect the retrieval effectiveness This book also addresses the problem of integrating information retrieval and database functions since there is an increasing need for retrieving information from frequently changing data collections which are organized and managed by a database system Multimedia Information Retrieval Content Based Information Retrieval from Large Text and Audio Databases serves as an excellent reference source and may be used as a text for advanced courses on the topic
