Tompkins, 1990 Book From mid 1970 to early 1974 The Who undertook an amazing and peculiar journey in which they struggled to follow up Tommy with a yet bigger and better rock opera One of those projects Lifhouse was never completed though many of its songs formed the bulk of the classic 1971 album Who's Next. The other Quadrophenia was as down to earth as the multimedia Lifehouse was futuristic. Issued as a double album in 1973, it eventually became esteemed as one of The Who's finest achievements despite initial unfavorable comparisons to Tommy. Along the way, the group's visionary songwriter Pete Townshend battled conflicts within the band and their management as well as struggling against the limits of the era's technology as a pioneering synthesizer user and a conceptualist trying to combine rock with film and theatre. The results included some of rock's most ambitious failures and some of its most spectacular triumphs. In Won't Get Fooled Again, noted rock writer and historian Richie Unterberger documents this intriguing period in detail, drawing on many new interviews, obscure rare archive sources and recordings, and a vast knowledge of the music of the times. The result is a comprehensive, articulate history that sheds new light on the band's innovations and Pete Townshend's massive ambitions, some of which still seem ahead of their time in the early 21st century. How Do You Make an Elephant Laugh?, And 699 Other Zany Riddles Joseph Rosenbloom, 1979. Includes 700 riddles on a variety of topics. Creating Reading Instruction for All Children Thomas G. Gunning, 1996. This book will not tell you how to teach reading. Teaching reading is in large measure a matter of making choices. Should you use basal readers or children's books or both? Should you teach children to read whole words or to sound out words letter by letter or both? Should you have three reading groups or four or no groups? There are no right answers to these questions. The answers depend on your personal philosophy, your interpretation of the research, the level at which you are teaching, the kinds of students you are teaching, community preferences, and the nature of your school or school district's reading program. The Macmillan Reading Program: How we read Albert Josiah Harris, Mae Knight Clark, 1965.
