The New Politics of the Textbook Heather Hickman, Brad J. Porfilio, 2012-10-13 In an age of unprecedented corporate and political control over life inside of educational institutions this book provides a needed intervention to investigate how the economic and political elite use traditional artifacts in K 16 schools to perpetuate their interests at the expense of minoritized social groups The contributors provide a comprehensive examination of how textbooks the most dominant cultural force in which corporations and political leaders impact the schooling curricula shape students thoughts and behavior perpetuate power in dominant groups and trivialize social groups who are oppressed on the structural axes of race class gender sexuality and disability Several contributors also generate critical insight in how power shapes the production of textbooks and evaluate whether textbooks still perpetuate dominant Western narratives that normalize and privilege patriotism militarism consumerism White supremacy heterosexism rugged individualism technology and a positivistic conception of the world Finally the book highlights several textbooks that challenge readers to rethink their stereotypical views of the Other to reflect upon the constitutive forces causing oppression in schools and in the wider society and to reflect upon how to challenge corporate and political dominance over knowledge production

History Textbooks and the Wars in Asia

Gi-Wook Shin, Daniel C. Snider, 2011-02-08 Over the past fifteen years Northeast Asia has witnessed growing intraregional exchanges and interactions especially in the realms of culture and economy Still the region cannot escape from the burden of history This book examines the formation of historical memory in four Northeast Asian societies China Japan South Korea and Taiwan and the United States focusing on the period from the beginning of the Sino Japanese war in 1931 until the formal conclusion of the Pacific War with the San Francisco Peace Treaty of 1951 The contributors analyse the recent efforts of Korean Japanese and Chinese scholars to write a common history of Northeast Asia and question the underlying motivations for their efforts and subsequent achievements In doing so they contend that the greatest obstacle to reconciliation in Northeast Asia lies in the existence of divided and often conflicting historical memories The book argues that a more fruitful approach lies in understanding how historical memory has evolved in each country and been incorporated into respective master narratives Through uncovering the existence of different master narratives it is hoped citizens will develop a more self critical self reflective approach to their own history and that such an introspective effort has the potential to lay the foundation for greater self and mutual understanding and eventual historical reconciliation in the region This book will be essential reading for students and scholars of Asian history Asian education and international relations in East Asia

The 'Other' Students Dina C. Maramba, Rick Bonus, 2012-12-01 Though the Filipino American population has increased numerically in many areas of the United States especially since the influx of professional immigrants in the wake of the 1965 Immigration Act their impact on schools and related educational institutions has rarely been documented and examined The

Other Students Filipino Americans Education and Power is the first book of its kind to focus specifically on Filipino Americans in education Through a collection of historical and contemporary perspectives we fill a profound gap in the scholarship as we analyze the emerging presence of Filipino Americans both as subjects and objects of study in education research and practice We highlight the argument that one cannot adequately and appropriately understand the complex histories cultures and contemporary conditions faced by Filipino Americans in education unless one grapples with the specificities of their colonial pasts and presents their unique migration and immigration patterns their differing racialization and processes of identity formations the connections between diaspora and community belonging and the various perspectives offered by ethnic group centered analysis to multicultural projects The historical methodological and theoretical approaches in this anthology will be of interest to scholars researchers and students in disciplines which include Education Ethnic Studies Asian American and Pacific Islander Studies Anthropology Sociology Political Science Urban Studies Public Policy and Public Health

Christianity, Islam and Atheism William Kilpatrick, 2012-09-26 For many Americans the attack on the World Trade Center on September 11 2001 was the first time they had considered Islam Were the terrorists motivated by the true dictates of their religion or had they hijacked Islam as well as the planes in a political cause unrelated to the teachings of Muhammad Christianity Islam and Atheism argues that Islam is a religion of conquest and subjugation and that in spite of 9 11 and thousands of other terrorist attacks throughout the world many in the West still do not know or admit this because it conflicts with their multiculturalism and their belief in the equivalence of all cultures and religions To meet the challenge from Islam Christians need to know more about the important differences between Islam and Christianity yet many have been lulled into complacency by the misleading and largely unexamined assumption that the two religions are similar The time that Christians spend in pursuing common ground is time that Islamic activists will use to press their radical agenda In addition to challenging both the multicultural and common ground approaches William Kilpatrick also exposes the role played by atheists and secularists in advancing Islam Despite paying lip service to freedom radical secularists serve as enablers of radical Islam The civil liberties that the West enjoys are the fruit of Christian civilization Kilpatrick argues and only a reawakened Christianity can defend them against Islam's advance
