Exceptionally Gifted Children Miraca U. M. Gross, 2003-12-16 Exceptionally Gifted Children is unique The first edition of this book published in 1993 introduced 15 remarkable children some of the most gifted young people ever studied and traced their path through school exploring their academic achievements and in some cases enforced underachievement their emotional development their social relationships and their family relationships and upbringing This new edition reviews these early years but also follows the young people over the subsequent ten years into adulthood No previous study has traced so closely and so sensitively the intellectual social and emotional development of highly gifted young people This 20 year study reveals the ongoing negative academic and social effects of prolonged underachievement and social isolation imposed on gifted children by inappropriate curriculum and class placement and shows clearly the long lasting benefits of thoughtfully planned individual educational programs The young adults of this study speak out and show how what happened in school has influenced and still influences many aspects of their lives Miraca Gross provides a clear practical blueprint for teachers and parents who recognise the special learning needs of gifted children and seek to respond effectively Reviews of National Policies for Education: Kyrgyz Republic 2010 Lessons from PISA OECD, 2010-11-30 This report explains the reasons for the dramatically low performance of Kyrgyz students in the 2006 PISA survey despite significant resources and efforts invested in education by schools parents and government and makes recommendations to Kyrgyz authorities for policy improvement *Canadian Books in Print. Research for Educational Change Jill Adler, Anna Sfard, 2016-06-17 Research for Educational Change presents ways in which educational research can fulfil its commitments to educational practice Focussing its discussion within the context of mathematics education it argues that while research generated insights can have beneficial effects on learning and teaching the question of how these effects are to be generated and sustained is far from evident The question of how to turn research into educational improvement is discussed here in the context of learning and teaching hindered by poverty and social injustice In the first part of the book four teams of researchers use different methodologies while analysing the same corpus of data collected in a South African mathematics classroom In the second part each of these teams makes a specific proposal about what can be done and how so that its research generated insights have a tangible beneficial impact on what is happening in mathematical classrooms Combining two discourses that of researchers speaking to one another and that of researchers communicating their insights to those responsible for educational practice the book deals with the perennial question of communication between those who study educational processes and those who are directly responsible for teacher education educational research and classroom practices This book will be key reading for postgraduates researchers and academics in education and particularly in the areas of mathematics education education research teacher education and classroom practice It will also appeal to teacher educators practitioners and undergraduate students interested in educational research
