

How to get the most from your LittleTouch™ LeapPad™ System.

There is no "right way" to read to your baby, so it is most important that you both just have fun with it! Here are some ideas for getting the most out of your LITTLETOUCH™ LEAPPAD™ experience.

Let your child set the pace.

While it might seem logical to read from beginning to end without interruption, when you read to your child, let your child call the shots. Sometimes your child will want to start in the middle of the book and spend time with a favorite page. Sometimes your child will want to go slow and sometimes fast. Anything goes! By allowing your child to choose pages and the pace, you will be focusing on the parts of the book that are most interesting for your child. This is the best way to foster a love of reading.

Read aloud to your child every day.

Even if it is just for a few minutes, the benefits of reading together are enormous. By beginning a reading routine early, your child will begin to look forward to this special time each day.

Communicate as you read.

The LITTLETOUCH LEAPPAD books are designed to foster communication between you and your child. Here are some ways to communicate during your LITTLETOUCH LEAPPAD reading experience.

- Be a role model. In the early months, your child will communicate by imitating you. While you read a story, bring your face close to your baby's face and move your mouth to encourage imitation. Look for  on every page, and touch it to participate in early learning activities. Even before your child is able to fully participate, it is valuable for him to watch you do the activities. Be patient if he doesn't join in right away. He will catch on soon enough and can learn by simply watching you!

- Add gestures. By adding movement and gestures, you can liven up familiar songs or indicate certain animals. This will give your child another way to communicate with you (even before doing so verbally) and will add an element of fun to your experience!
- Ask questions. Use the story as a launching board to ask relevant questions about your child's own experiences. This will bring the reading experience back to an emotional level and will lead to greater interest in the book.

Grin and bear it.

Agree to read the same story over and over again. When your child latches on to a favorite story, you'll know it. Although this can be tiresome for a parent, repeating the same story is actually good for children. By reading the same story more than once, you're providing your child with more chances to learn the story and to develop long-term memory skills. So, pick up that all-too-familiar book with real enthusiasm, and pay attention to how much more your child knows each time you do!

Nurture your child's independence.

Spending time reading together is absolutely critical. The time you spend with your child enjoying the reading experience will lead to your child's future reading success. However, there will also come a time when your child wants to have time alone with the LITTLETOUCH LEAPPAD learning system. You'll want to foster this self-confidence by allowing your child to learn on his own (as well as with you). Activity cards are included with every book, and are meant for an independent "play and learn" experience!
